LORD CONNEMARA WRITES

On the Cause of the Troubles in China.

He Thinks Secret Societies Are the Causes of Much of the Rioting—The Missionaries.

London, Oct. 21.—Lord Connemara writes to the press denying that the nuns engaged in missionary work in China persuade parents to surrender the custody of their children to them.

On the contrary, Chinese parents are perfectly willing to surrender their children to a care that ensures them good food and comfortable clothing.

Impressions which his lordship received while traveling between Hankow and Ichang, in the province of Hoo-Pee, last June, convinced him that the secret societies were at the bottom of the riots.

The Pekin government, Lord Connemara declares, is obstinate and utterly corrupt, and the divergent interests of the European powers prevents prompt and combined action at a time when such action is most imperatively demanded. Another difficulty is the craving of Russia and France for more territory in the east, and the attempts of Germany to supplant the English in the Chinese market.

STARED DEATH IN THE FACE.

An Unknown Man's Horrible Method of Suicide.

He Faced a Railroad Train Going Fifty Miles an Hour and Let It Run Him Down.

Steubenville, O., Oct. 21.—A deliberate case of suicide in a particularly horrible manner occurred in this vicinity almost on the exact spot where the big wreck occurred Friday morning on the Panhandle near Mingo Junction.

An unknown man stepped upon the track in front of passenger train No. 9 and stood facing the engine until it ran him down.

The train was running at the rate of about fifty miles an hour, and the man was hurled a distance of fifty feet. His head was crushed in and both legs and one arm broken. He was neatly dressed and of middle age.

Coroner Starr has been endeavoring to discover his identity all day, but as yet has not been successful. The remains are at Mingo.

MURDERED BY MEXICANS.

Horrible Outrages Continue to be Perpetrated.

Under Guise of Law Men Were Shot Down in the Presence of Their Pleading Wives and Families.

Rio Grande City, Tex., Oct. 21.—The Mexican consul here, Mr. Josef Gonzales, requires all citizens to get a pass for the other side, granting them only to those he deems truly loyal.

Without one the passer will find himself in deadly peril in Mexico. Three Mexicans were shot at the guardado de firiba ranch on the river, nine miles above here, on the Mexican side, last Sunday.

Two had just crossed from Texas, having been working in the vicinity of Victoria. The other, Juan Basean, was from Mier, an army meat contractor, it is said.

The first two, unconscious of the necessity for them, crossed without consular permits, and were at once arrested at their homes. General Lorenzo Garcai, on his way from Camargo to Mier with an escort the night they were shot, when notified of their arrest ordered their summary execution, which took place in the presence of their pleading families.

The shots that ushered them into eternity and the cries of the wives and children for mercy were plainly heard on the Texas side. A number of families at that point, terror-stricken, fled to this side, where they are camping in the open air.

THE JAWS OF DEATH

Opened On a Train Load of Sleeping Passengers.

An Awful Wreck at Monmouth, Illinois.

Running Forty-Five Miles an Hour

The Train Rushed Into an Open Switch.

Every Car Left the Track and Scarcely Any of the Inmates Escaped Without Injuries—Five Dead and Fifty Wounded.

Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 21.—Five persons were killed and fifty or sixty injured in a railroad wreck here at 1 o'clock this morning on the Burlington road.

The Omaha and Denver fast express, which left Chicago last night, ran into an open switch and the entire train was thrown from the track.

Engineer Emerson and the traveling engineer of the road, who had gone into the cab half an hour before, were killed outright.

A lady passenger was found pinioned under the rucks of the sleeper. She had evidently been hurled through a window by the crash. Her body was crushed into an unrecognizable mass.

Near her were a man and woman, both dead under the sleeper.

The train consisted of three sleepers, two chair cars, one smoker, one baggage, one express and two mail cars. The sleepers were heavily loaded, as were also the chair cars.

Emerson, the engineer, was one of the oldest passenger engineers in the country and he had been on this run for several months.

The train was speeding along at the rate of 45 miles an hour when it struck the open switch. The engine dashed along on the spur of the track for a few yards, when it turned over on its side, burying Emerson and the traveling engineer of the road beneath it.

Emerson was found with his feet touching the fire-box. There was a deep wound in his head and his body was terribly crushed.

All of the engine left the track the baggage car and the cars behind it were also hurled from the rails. Most of the passengers in the sleepers had retired. The first intimation they had of danger was when the coaches crashed against each other. Men, women and children were hurled from ther berths. The lights went out, leaving the cars in total darkness.

A terrible panic ensued, and women screamed frantically for help. It is said that none of the passengers in the sleepers were killed, but many of them were severely injured.

THROWN FROM HIS BUGGY.

Columbus, O., Oct. 21.—Judge John S. Friesner, well known in Ohio politics, met with an accident which may prove more than serious last night by being thrown out of his buggy.

TO AID LAKE INDUSTRIES.

War Ships May Yet be Built on Inland Seas.

The Next Congress Will Ask the Executives to Move for the Abrogation of the Treaty of 1817.

Washington, Oct. 21.—About two years ago, when bids were opened for building a new cruiser for the navy, it was discovered that the lowest bidder was Wheeler & Co., of Bay City, Mich.

After thinking the matter over for some time and consulting the law officers of the government, the secretary of the navy decided not to award the contract to the lowest bidders because it was alleged that the treaty of 1817 between the United States and Great Britain bound this country not to build war vessels on the lakes.

Ever since that time the subject of the abrogation of the clause of the treaty has been agitated. Now the subject is likely to receive even more attention.

By the terms of the treaty it may be abrogated by either party to the agreement giving the other a certain specified notice of its desire to bring about its termination.

But for some reason, while nearly every official of the government favors the cessation of the treaty, it has not been deemed best by the state department to notify England of the desire of the United States to terminate it.

Commissioner Bates of the bureau of navigation says, however, that in his annual report he proposes to recommend the abrogation of the instrument.

This recommendation, under ordinary circumstances, would not have much effect, but it is understood that it will be indorsed by the secretary of the treasury; that the secretary of the navy will take a similar ground, and that Secretary Blaine as well as the president may be relied upon to approve the recommendation of the commissioner.

It is probable, therefore, that a resolution will be introduced and passed through congress calling upon the secretary of state to take the necessary steps towards securing tht abrogation of the treaty, and in that event it is more than possible that in the future the shipyards of the lake region will prove formidable competitors for the ship building contracts of the navy department.

BOUND FOR WASHINGTON.

Blaine Going Back to See Harrison.

His Health Is Perfectly Restored and He Is Eager to Get Back In the Political Swim.

Portland, Me., Oct. 21.—Secretary Blaine decided to return to Washington to-day, leaving Augusta on a morning train.

He will arrive in Boston at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and will proceed immediately to Washington.

Mrs. Blaine will accompany him.

Mr. Blaine is completely restored to health, and looks forward with impatience to the time when he will resume work in the state department.

THEY LIVED OUT THE GALE.

Ocean Vessels Reporting After the Storm.

Many Are in a Badly Battered Condition.

The Wallaston Was Knocked on Her Beam Ends and Had to Cut Away Her Spars Before She Righted.

Lewes, Del., Oct. 21.—Several vessels that experienced the force of the late gale have arrived at the breakwater.

The schooner Edith R. Seward with lumber from Florida for New York reports having passed, latitude 37, longitude 73, a three-masted schooner water-logged, on the 14th, flying signals of distress, and an unknown bark lying by her supposed to be taking off the crew of the schooner.

Schooner Wm. Jones, Capt. Fuller, brought the crew of the schooner Fannie E. Wallaston, of Bath, Me., rescued on the 14th, 100 miles south by east of Cape Henry.

The Wallaston took the gale off Barnegat on the evening of the 11th. Capt. Marr, of the Wallaston, reports the gale as one of the severest ever experienced. The vessel was thrown on her beam ends and masts were cut away before righting her. The crew were on her 24 hours and nearly exhausted when taken off, saving nothing but what they had on.

Schooner Harry Prescott, Capt. Gillmore, with lumber from Brunswick, Ga., for Boston, reports heavy northeast gales off the coast, loss of part of deck load and stern boat.

British steamer Aymestry, from Java with sugar for orders arrived last night, reports having picked up, 100 miles east of Bermuda, an iron whistling buoy, supposed to belong to some station on the coast.

LYNCHED A WHITE MAN.

Columbia, La., Oct. 21.—John Rush, a young white man, was lynched Monday night for the murder of Hagar Sterling, an old colored woman. The murder was a very brutal one and entirely unprovoked.

The case excited a great deal of indignation, and Monday night a mob of masked men took Rush from the jail and hanged him from the limb of a tree in the jail yard.

FIRE AT FINDLAY.

Findlay, Oct. 21.—Fire destroyed the handsome dwelling house and all its contents of W. F. Morgan, on East Pearl street. Loss $4,000; insurance $1,450.

As the Morgan family have been in Toledo since last Friday, the fire is supposed to have been the work of burglars.

WILLIAM COY HAS CONFESSED

A Most Brutal Murder in Massachusetts.

A Husband Kills the Alleged Destroyer of His Home—Chopped Him to Pieces with an Ax.

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 21.—William Coy has confessed the murder of John Whalen, whose body was found buried on the mountain side at Washington, Mass., last Tuesday.

He says he learned Saturday, Aug. 29, that Whalen had planned an elopement with Mrs. Coy. When he reached home late Saturday night Whalen was absent; he went into the house to get a lantern and started to hunt Whalen up.

He could find no trace of him, and returned to the house and found Whalen's trunk standing in his room. He broke it open and found his wife's clothing packed in it.

While examining the trunk Whalen came in. This was between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. Whalen asked Coy what he was doing at his trunk, and a quarrel followed. According to Coy's story, Whalen stepped outside and returned with an axe and club and then struck Coy with his fist, knocking him into a corner.

Whalen then seized the axe and struck twice at Coy, who grappled with him, and after a hard struggle succeeded in getting possession of the axe. Whalen then seized the club and as he tried to strike Coy the latter hit him with the axe, smashing in his skull.

Coy spent an hour in deciding what to do. He finally took the axe and cut Whalen's throat to make sure of his death, then dragged the body into the yard and left it while he cut the bloody pieces out of the carpet and bedding and burned them. He then went into the yard and cut the legs from Whalen's body with the axe and carried the remains up the mountain and buried them.

Coy says he killed Whalen in self-defense and exonerates Joe Kelly and Mrs. Coy, saying that they knew nothing about the crime. When asked about how he came to have so much money immediately after Whalen's disappearance he became reticent, but finally said Whalen gave it to him in consideration of his saying nothing about his (Whalen's) intimacy with Mrs. Coy.

A WAR IN SIGHT.

The Whisky Trust and the Kentucky Distillers on the Outs.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The whiskey trust has run afoul of the Kentucky distillers and a war is expected.

The trust recently issued a circular to customers notifying them that they would forfeit certain rebates allowed if they purchased quick-aging whisky from other firms, and it has now decided that this quick-aging whisky is that under two years of age.

This is a direct slap at the Kentucky distillers, and it was predicted by a whisky dealer who visited the internal revenue office that the Kentucky whisky distillers would now start up their spirit-making departments, and make war on the trust.

"The trust has assumed to dictate altogether too much," said the gentleman, "and if this thing keeps up for long saloon keepers will give only a certain quantity for a drink and use smaller glasses."

WILL MURDER MISSIONARIES.

Shanghai, Oct. 21.—The walls of Woo-Chang have been covered with posters announcing that all missionaries will shortly be put out of the way. The placards are the work of the secret society known as the Kolahut.

THE FOREIGNER PAYS IT.

Paris, Oct. 21.—The senate tariff committee met again yesterday, when the subject of the admission of American pork was debated at considerable length.

Finally the committee decided in favor of a proposition to impose a duty of 25 francs per 100 kilos on salted meats of all kinds, including pork, ham and bacon, instead of one of 20 francs, which the chamber of deputies had already passed.

GAS AT UPPER SANDUSKY.

Upper Sandusky, Oct. 21.—The Buckeye Natural Gas company that supplies this place and Carey with natural gas is being hard pushed. Most all of their wells have failed, dry holes have become numerous and now the Chester Pipe and Tube company of Lima have entered suit against them for the foreclosure of a mortgage amounting to $8,700.

CITY OFFICIALS IN JAIL.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—Judge Loney sent Mayor Al Berry and the city council of Newport to jail to-day for refusing to obey the order of the court to use the lights furnished by the Newport Gas company per a decision of the court. The officials of the city were declared in contempt and were sent to jail for six months or until further order of the court.

BURNED TO DEATH.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—Dispatches received here announce that the town of Rockowas was totally destroyed by fire. Five children were burned to death during the conflagration. The inhabitants, most of whom lost all they possessed, are camping out in the fields.

CONFIDENCE IN THE MINISTRY.

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 21.—A vote of confidence in the ministry has been passed by both houses of the congress by a large majority.

THE GOOD WORK GOES ON

Thousands Continue to Cheer Gov. Campbell.

A Grand Reception Tendered at Bellefontaine.

The Plucky Leader Forces the Fight Among the Wool Growers of the State—Tariff Reform the Cry.

Bellfontaine, Oct. 21.—The effect of Gov. Campbell's magnificent Cincinnati meeting is plainly apparent in this section of the state. When his train reached Springfield last evening, en route to Bellfontaine, it was met by an immense crowd of enthusiastic democrats, and he was escorted to the Arcade hotel balcony and compelled to make a speech.

This reception was an impromptu affair, as the news of the governor's coming did not reach the city until a half hour before the arrival of his train.

Notwithstanding this short notice the Arcade was packed to suffocation. After this speech the governor was given five minutes to eat his supper, and was then hustled off to the train. The Springfield democrats do not stand on ceremony, and when it was time for the train to start fully 1,000 of them demanded car service and the train was added to, so as to accommodate them.

At Urbana, West Liberty and other stations there were large crowds and many joined the party.

When the train reached this place there were thousands at the station and the governor was greeted with blazing bonfires and brass bands.

In the afternoon Hon. W. D. Bynum addressed a large meeting here, but this did not satisfy the people of this republican town and county. They wanted more democratic doctrine and they got it.

When the governor arrived the large opera house was crowded and there were thousands unable to get inside.

An overflow meeting was at once organized and the court house was packed to its full capacity.

Gov. Campbell opened the opera house meeting and Congressman McCreary, Kentucky's eloquent ex-governor, spoke at the court house.

Even this did not accommodate all the people who wanted to hear, and many hundreds walked the streets and cheered for the democratic standard bearer.

After the governor had finished his speech at the opera house he went to the court house and made another short speech.

In his speech Gov. Campbell began by alluding to state issues and complimented the work of the late general assembly. He said, however, that while the republican papers were charging that he was afraid of state issues and Major McKinley was talking about Michigan and John Sherman worrying about rebels, he was not going to allow them to divert his attention from the great issue, and he then proceeded to discuss the tariff.

The governor's speech at Cincinnati had left him with a hoarseness, but it cleared as he proceeded and he soon had the audience in an enthusiastic mood. The court house is immediately across the street from the opera house and the cheers from the two meetings were blended into one enthusiastic demonstration of democratic delight.

This is one of the large wool-growing counties of the state, and the governor was particularly happy in his remarks on the wool question. Senator Sherman speaks in this county to-day and the governor quoted his former utterances on the wool tariff and asked Sherman to explain to the wool growers of Logan county how he can support Major McKinley without turning his back on his own record.

This is also the home of Hon. William Lawrence, one of Ohio's political shepherds, and the governor's sarcastic description of that gentleman's experience with the McKinley bill kept the large audience in a constant roar.

The governor then took up Major McKinley's claim that the Ohio farmer is protected by his tariff on wheat. This also provoked great applause and the farmers in the audience made their full share of the noise.

At the conclusion of Gov. Campbell's speech at the opera house he was followed by Mr. Bynum. While the meetings were in progress enthusiastic democrats paraded the streets, keeping up a terrible din with their cheers and tin horns.

IS SETTLED NOW.

B. Harrison in the Role of a Chemist.

He Gives McKinley Tin a Commercial Character.

The Greatest Piece of Political Buncombe Extant.

Baby McKee Probably Had a Hand In It.

The Stubborn Fact Remains, Nevertheless, that Consumers Cannot Get the Celebrated Tin Factories to Quote Rates on the Commodity.

Washington, Oct. 21.—President Harrison has made his debut as a tin plate expert.

He wrote a letter to W. D. C. Cronemeyer, proprietor of the Demmler tin plate factory, acknowledging the receipt of a sample of American tin plate. In the course of the letter he says after a thorough examination of the plates he is able to pronounce them not only genuine but of the very best quality.

The tin plate liars, it would seem, must be in very desperate straights when the testimony of the president of the United States is required to confirm the statements they are making about the manufacture of tin plate.

Mr. Harrison does not say who conducted the examination of the plates and without evidence on this point it is fair to presume that the inquest held over the plates was made by a joint commission consisting of himself, Private Secretary Lige Halford and the doughty little Baby McKee.

Just where the gentlemen obtained their expert knowledge of tin plate and its properties no one here knows, but there is a strong tip out to the effect that Baby McKee has been making a study of old tin cans in the back yard of the White House since the controversy over tin plate arose, and the result of his researches have been imparted to his grandpa.

The whole town is laughing over the president's contribution to the tin plate literature of the present campaign, which is considered by long odds the lowest piece of political buncome extant.

Following the example of other tin plate experts, it is presumed that the president will send Major McKinley an affidavit to flourish in the face of the Ohio voters.

The National Sheet Metal company of New York, large consumers of terne plate (roofing plates), in a card to the New York World this morning effectively puts an end to the claim of the Cincinnati Corrugation company of Piqua that it is manufacturing terne plate. The National Sheet Metal company, under date of Oct. 6, wrote to the Cincinnati Corrugation company in good faith as follows:

"Gentlemen: Please quote us your best prices in I. C. terne plate (roofing tin) of a quality equal to 'Dean,' 'Alyn' or 'Albon' brands, in following proportions: Three thousand boxes, 14x20; 1,000 boxes, 20x28. Also state how soon delivery could be made. A prompt reply will oblige yours truly,

"THE NATIONAL SHEET METAL ROOFING COMPANY."

To this the following reply was received:

"Piqua, O., Oct. 8, 1891.

"W. F. Wallace, Secretary and Treasurer National Sheet Metal Roofing Company, New York City—Dear Sir: Replying to your esteemed favor of the 6th inst., we have been favored with such a generous amount of orders from nearby parties that we cannot execute your orders promptly, hence do not quote. It is probable that we can dispose of our production to a better advantage than at a distance. Thanking you for your inquiry, we are yours very truly,

"THE CINCINNATI CORRUGATION COMPANY."

The "nearby parties" referred to by the Piqua concern are probably McKinley's managers, whose demands for tin plate campaign badges absorb the entire output of the company's works.

SUGAR WILL BE CHEAPER.

A Big War on in the Eastern Markets.

Granulated Is Selling for Four and Three-Sixteenths and Will Go Still Lower.

New York, Oct. 21.—War has been declared between the Franklyn Sugar Refining company, of Philadelphia, and the American Sugar Refining company, of New York.

The Philadelphia refinery made a cut in prices last Friday. The New York people met the cut yesterday, and granulated sugar was selling at 4 3-16 cents, a decline of 3-16. A further decline is looked for to-day.

The only reason assigned for the cut is that holders had big stocks and wanted to unload. The market is demoralized.

NO PEACE IN SIGHT.

Dublin, Oct. 21.—The Freeman's Journal says the speeches made by members of the National league yesterday show that the idea of expecting peace and conciliation is hopeless.

STREET RAILWAY MEN.

Tenth Annual Session in Pittsburg.

Business and Pleasure Will Be Combined and Much Useful Knowledge Obtained.

Pittsburg, Oct. 21.—The tenth annual convention of the American street railway association was opened here this morning by President Henry M. Watson, of Buffalo, N. Y.

This afternoon the delegates will visit the various power houses in the two cities.

To-morrow will be devoted to business and the annual banquet in the evening.

On Friday excursions will be made to the points of interest in this city.

About 300 delegates will be present during the convention. More than 100 street railway manufacturing and supply companies have appliances and supplies on exhibition. One of the questions to be discussed will be in regard to an international street railway convention to be held in or near Chicago in 1893.

BLUFF DIDN'T GO,

Republicans Obliged to Change Their Tactics,

And Are Kept Busy on the Defensive.

Campbell Has Harmonized All the Factions,

While the Enemies Camp is Full of Traitors.

The People's Party Campaign—The Australian Ballot—Interesting Review of the Situation Up to Date.

Columbus, Oct. 21.—If a political avalanche were impending in Ohio public feeling could not be more strained or party leaders more nervous than they are to-day. The campaign has developed with marvellous rapidity and its development has been generally in one direction. The collapse of the republican policy of brag is complete. Instead of leading the procession, which they started six weeks ago with such a blowing of tin horns, the republicans are scrambling along in the rear, happy if they attain one position as soon as the democrats have carried the next one ahead. The whole republican campaign has become subservient to democratic movements.

Major McKinley, whose glittering scimetar cut wide swaths up and down the state during the month before Campbell took the stump, is reduced to the necessity of chasing Campbell about the state, lopping off the heads of democratic camp followers. His appointments are not made until after those of Gov. Campbell are announced, in order that he may follow the governor and endeavor to counteract the effect of his speeches. In the case of the Western Reserve this attempt was a notable failure. McKinley's meetings there, in spite of the best efforts of the local republican leaders and the expenditure of much money in securing the turnout of uniformed clubs, were no larger than those of Gov. Campbell in the same localities, and in some places the meetings were abandoned because it was evident that they could not be made equal to the democratic ones. This was the case in Norwalk, where the republicans had expected to have a great demonstration, but gave up the idea after Gov. Campbell's almost impromptu affair had exceeded in size and enthusiasm any political meeting previously held in that county.

Republicans Becoming Alarmed.

Gov. Campbell's reception during his tour last week through the generally democratic counties of the northwest, culminating Friday night in the remarkable demonstration in the republican city of Toledo, has similarly alarmed the republicans, and they are making desperate efforts to break its effects.

The day after the Toledo meeting it was announced that the republican committee would send McKinley, Reed, Foster, Burrows and Foraker to speak in that city.

Not before in this campaign have so many distinguished speakers been assigned to one city. John Sherman would probably have been sent along with the rest but for the fact that he has already spoken in Toledo once this year.

It is practically conceded that the republicans can not hold their own in the rural districts. From which side the farmers' alliance and people's party element would take the most votes has been apparent all along from republican howling over the alleged treacherous intentions of the democratic alliance men.

The republican charge is that the democrats in the alliance are going to vote the democratic state ticket and leave their republican brethren in the lurch. There is every indication not only that this charge is essentially true but that a good share of the republicans in the alliance are privy to the plot and will be left in the lurch with perfect complaisance, even if they do not go clear over themselves and vote for Campbell, too.

The farmers' alliance proper has made no pretense of activity in the state campaign, but has openly devoted itself entirely to securing a balance of power in the legislature. The people's party campaign is practically abandoned, so far as the state ticket is concerned. Candidate Seitz has withdrawn from the stump on account of his health. Jerry Simpson and other alliance orators are devoting their whole time to denouncing McKinley and the republican tariff doctrines. The argument against protection furnished by the remarkable decline in farm values in Ohio during the past ten years is unanswerable, because its truth is a patent fact to farmers all over the state. The slump in the price of wool following McKinley's increase in the wool tariff is an object lesson that will cost the republicans thousands of farmer votes.

The republican leaders are driven to seek in the cities recompense for their loss among the farmers. The outlook for them there is more encouraging. There is little indication of any startling change in the city vote as compared with previous years, and it has always been favorable to the republicans. One factor, however, remains uncertain, and may bring disaster to the republicans. That is the Australian ballot system to be tried next month for the first time in Ohio.

The democrats claim that the secret ballot provided by this system will lead to the casting for the democratic ticket of a large vote that has previously been controlled by employers and cast in bulk for the republican ticket.

That there is some foundation for this charge is indicated by the almost unanimous opposition of the republican leaders and newspapers to the new system. While only a few openly admit their opposition to it, no chance to deride it or sneer at it is missed, and the Cincinnati organ of the party declares editorially that a vote for the republican ticket is a vote against the system. Republicans generally insist that the system is going to cost their ticket many votes, an admission that is more significant, probably, than they intend.

A leading republican instituted an action in the supreme court to have the law declared unconstitutional. Responsibility for this action is officially disowned by the republican state committee, but there is little doubt that if they did not fear its effect upon public opinion the republicans would press it to an issue before election.

GUN CLUB CONTEST.

North Baltimore Carried Off the Prize at Tiffin Yesterday.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 21.—A contest between the North Baltimore and Tiffin gun clubs for a purse of $100 occurred in this city yesterday, and the visitors were the winners by 48 points. Each club was represented by eight members and each man shot at 100 blue rocks. The score follows:

North Baltimore—F. P. Clark 93, H. Benscotten 87, D. H. Peters 86, D. Peters 86, E. Goldner 85, J. S. Hamilton 80, J. W. Weaver 65, Caisse 72. Total, 654.

Tiffin—T. S. Falkner 89, R. D. Sneatt 87, S. Geyer 81, John Connors 81, Art Geyer 78, E. J. Baker 68, Don Duskirk 68, Charles Geyer 54. Total, 606.

The event was witnessed by sportsmen from Dayton, Orrville, Norwalk, Fremont, Fostoria, Findlay, Toledo and other cities, and was followed by eight other contests of minor importance.

GRATIFYING TO ALL.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup company.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

They Could Find Nothing to Steal in Fostoria.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 21.—(Special)—Burglars entered Geo. Hoyer's meat market Monday night and wrenched the cash drawer open.

Finding nothing there they took a hammer and cleaver from the shop and with these forced their way into the Lion shoe store next door.

Here they also investigated the cash drawer, but found only a few cents.

They stole rubber boots and shoes, however, leaving their ragged old boots.

After this they broke into Lee Chum's laundry when they stole a pair of the Chinaman's pants.

A car house at the B. and O. was broken into and some things stolen.

CARRIAGE BUILDERS.

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—The nineteenth annual convention of the Carriage Builders' National association has opened in Dexter hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, George H. Burrows, who delivered his annual address, after which the reports of the various committees were read.

RUSSIA TO HAVE A PANIC.

An Unstable State of Affairs Reported Abroad.

Ten Large Business House Have Failed.

Peculiar Methods of the Czar When All His Country People Are Crying in One Voice, "Give Us Food or We Starve."

New York, Oct. 21.—The London correspondent of the Times cables the following: Civilization does well to take note of the fact that while the Russian government is unable to prevent famine darkening the lives of hundreds of thousands of its poor people, it always has money to spend on piratical adventures, and it feels quite free to project and execute military works and alterations on a scale of expense and magnitude which even rich France would hesitate about. It is announced that all this huge loan just negotiated is to be devoted to building new roads and railways in Poland and other frontier localitites entirely of a strategical character.

This half-civilized lack of a sense of proportion in things shows how Asiatic Russia truly is. Her inability or unwillingness to prevent starvation, while she pours out lavish millions in multiplying troops on the frontier, which no enemy threatens, is quite of a kidney with the desire of the Nizam of Hyderabad to buy for himself a diamond for $2,150,000 while his treasury is in difficulties and famine is impending in his province.

Luckily, the Nizam had a British president sternly to restrain his folly, but there is nobody able to prevent Russia from doing these monstrous and deplorable things.

What widespread ruin and commercial collapse this crazy misgovernment works may be seen from the fact that there were last week ten failures of big Russian firms in St. Petersburg alone, with an excess of liabilities over assets of 8,000,000 rubles. The names of the firms are furnished to me, but they would convey no information to American readers. In each case the bankruptcy is ascribed to the bad harvest and the trade demoralization caused by the expulsion of the Jews.

This is only the beginning. Within another month there will be a commercial panic all over Russia. Even in parts where the failure of the crops would not have ordinarily produced a famine blank ruin threatens men this year simply because for the past four or five years the peasants have been exceptionally poor, and not only have they been knouted by the officials to extort taxes, but they have had their horses, live stock, hay and agricultural implements seized and sold by the government.

America will have a startling story of Russian barbarism presented to it in a few weeks, when Dr. Walter Kempster, the last of the government immigration commissioners, arrives with his report, on which he is now at work here in London. Dr. Kempster, who sails on Wednesday, has the very highest opinion of the Jewish population, particularly of the farming colonies, and is boiling over with indignation and horror at the inhuman treatment they are receiving from the Russians.

Information is sent to me by underground railway from Moscow that Count Koffsky, the Cossack chief of police, whose brutalities in evicting the poor Jews of Moscow last March shocked the whole world, has for eight weeks been confined to his house by delirium tremens. He is also under a cloud of another character, being implicated with one of his subordinates, Lentoffsecky, in forgeries amounting to 200,000 rubles.

ECUMENICAL CONGRESS.

The Last Day's Session in Washington.

A Delegation Will Be Sent to the Pan-Presbyterian Council in Toronto Next Fall.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The Ecumenical Methodist conference after a two weeks' session spent in discussing many questions and interchanging ideas for the benefit of humanity throughout the world, entered upon its last day's session yesterday morning.

The session was called to order by Rev. Thomas Allen, of Sheffield, Eng., a minister of the Wesleyan Methodist church. The topic for the day was "The Outlook."

The secretary of the business committee announced that certain amendments had been made upon the memorial presented yesterday appointing an executive commission to look after the business of the next ecumenical conference.

The memorial as amended was adopted.

A resolution providing for sending a delegation to the Pan-Presbyterian council at Toronto next fall was also adopted.

Rev. J. S. Simon, of Kent, Eng., read an essay on the Christian resources of the old world.

Rev. J. C. Watts, of London, delivered an address on this subject.

A second essay on Christian resources of the new world was read by Chancellor Edward Mayes, of Oxford, Miss. He said that south of the United States all of the new world was Roman Catholic excepting the English possessions, and in several countries the Methodists had a slight foothold. In the British possessions the principal religion was Protestantism, with about one-seventh of the whole population Roman Catholic.

TO CLOSE THE CAMPAIGN.

Fostoria, O., Oct. 21.—The democrats of Fostoria and vicinity will be addressed by Hon. Jason B. Brown, member of congress from Indiana, on the evening of October 30.

Mr. Brown is recommended by the state executive committee as one of the most forcible, eloquent and logical talkers on the stump.

This will probably be the last democratic meeting in Fostoria this campaign.

OHIO AND MISSISSIPPI.

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—Judge Hunt, of the superior court, to-day refused to enjoin the voting of the Ohio & Mississippi stock of Brown, Shipley & Co., of London, held by proxy. The amounts to 147,000 shares, being a majority of the stock. The result is a victory for the B. & O. people.

HIS LATEST THE GREATEST

Wizard Edison Again Astonishes the World.

Street Cars Can Run Without a Trolley.

A Speed of a Hundred Miles an Hour or More to be Attained by Railroad Trains in the Future.

New York, Oct. 21.—Thomas A. Edison, the eectrical wizard, has just completed two inventions before the wonderful and far reaching results of which all his other remarkable discoveries are comparatively insignificant.

One is the practical application of electricity to great railroad lines, by which speed far beyond anything achieved by steam may be attained, and the other the application of electricity to the propulsion of street cars without the use of the dangerous, unsightly and inconvenient overhead construction.

For two years Mr. Edison has been engaged on experiments in this direction. He has met with almost insuperable difficulties, but he has stuck to his work with that dogged pertinacity for which he is famous, and at last he has been successful.

The general principle of the street car invention is that the electric current passes down through one line of rails, is picked up by the car, passes through the motor beneath it, and goes out on the other side and returns through the other line of rails to the central power station.

At the first thought the bare idea of this is paradoxical. The question will naturally occur why the electric current does not dissipate itself in the ground. To this no positive reason can be assigned except the bare statement that it does not.

In general terms the effect is accomplished by having the current one of low voltage or pressure. It is a well settled principle of electrical research that the higher the voltage the greater must be the insulation, and that the lower the voltage can be brought the less need of insulation.

Mr. Edison's experiments have all been in this direction—that is to say, in the endeavor to construct a motor sufficiently powerful to do the work, in which the voltage was reduced to so low a point that the natural tendency of the electric current to fly off to the ground and be dissipated would be overcome, and the passage through the motor to the opposite rail would be easier for the current than to pass through the ground to the central station.

The plan of having a central rail for the return current was experimented on for a long time, but when the motor had been perfected so that it would work efficiently Mr. Edison found that he could dispense with the central rail and return the current directly to the station through the opposite rail.

The experiments were conducted at the great laboratory in West Orange. Here an experimental track, nearly a quarter of a mile long, was constructed through the laboratory yard down to the yard of the Edison Phonograph works. In its length it presented all the various kinds of difficulties that actual use would encounter.

A part of it was laid on a very heavy grade of nearly three hundred feet to the mile, there are several sharp curves in the road, and a portion of it runs through a sunken spot where the track could be flooded with water or covered with mud. In this way all the varying conditions of actual use were provided.

The experiments have now been fully completed and the invention passes out of the first experimental stage into the second stage, its adaptation to practical work.

The experiments have been made by Mr. Edison for the Edison General Electric company, and until Mr. Edison has turned the invention over to that company for actual work, the minute details of the invention are of necessity withheld from the public.

Enough, however, has been said to show the character of the invention. The voltage of the current employed will be, as has been said, very low, less than 100, while the average voltage of the overhead trolley system is in excess of 500.

From this it will be seen how great a revolution the new invention will effect in the whole matter of electric traction. Several prominent horse railroad systems have offered their lines to the Edison General Electric company for the introduction of the invention, and it is probable that a selection will be made in the near future and arrangements made to put the first practical experimental line in operation.

The most remarkable feature of the invention is in the "pick ups," that take the current from one line of rails. A novel and ingenious mechanism has been so arranged that it will work with perfect certainty and effect through six inches of mud or slush or water.

Mr. Edison's other great discovery is to obviate the difficulty met in the attainment of high speed on the ordinary steam railway, which is the interference of steam.

The injection and exhaust of the steam into and from the cylinders is so rapid in its alternation that beyond a certain limit it is impossible to work, and this is an inherent defect in all steam propulsion because of the necessity of the conversion of reciprocating motion into rotary motion

In the new electric motor this difficulty vanishes, and the limit of speed is only that of the endurance of the machinery and the strength of the tracks

With this invention of Mr. Edison a speed of 100 miles or more an hour will be more easily attainable than the ordinary speed of fifty to sixty miles an hour. This is also in the hands of the Edison General Electric company, and negotiations are now in progress for the application of the system to one of the long lines of railway.

UNCLE SAM IS PUBLIC PREY.

Should Office-Holders Draw Two Salaries?

Comptroller Matthews Will Have Something of Interest to Say in His Forthcoming Report.

Washington, Oct. 21.—If congress intends to permit certain United States officials to draw salaries for two or three offices, in violation of the statute forbidding it, First Comptroller Matthews wants it to so declare itself.

This abuse will be treated by him in his forthcoming annual report, and legislation upon the subject will be asked.

The attention of congress has been called to it, but without results. Upon the statutes of the United States there is a section that makes it unlawful for any one holding an office with a salary of $2,500 to enjoy the emoluments of any other office.

But one case based on this law ever came before the supreme court, and that was several years ago, when an executive clerk at the white house held a position as clerk of one of the senate committees, the compensation in each case being $1,500.

The court held that inasmuch as the salary allowance was within the limit fixed by the statute, there was no bar to the clerk holding both places.

There is but one place where the law is violated, said Mr. Matthews, but that is where it would be least expected—in the district courts of the United States. It appears, he continued, to be the custom in the courts for the judge, who is appointed for life, to appoint some relative to the clerkship of his court. This pays $3,500 a year. In nine cases out of ten the appointee is the father or son of the judge.

Then there is a clerk of the appelate court to appoint. Not willing to have the snug sum of $3,500, which also attaches to this office, get out of the family, the same relative is appointed to this office, and his salary by this arrangement increased to $7,000. It not infrequently happens that a United States commissioner is needed, and this is added to the list, so that often the individual holding the three offices has an income aggregating well up to $10,000 a year. Sometimes these accounts are sent in to the comptroller with extra allowances attached, and in such cases they are turned down. In the majority of cases, however, the men are duly appointed by the judges and sworn in, and the comptroller has no discretion in the matter.

The amount authorized by law to be paid is correct, but the question for congress to decide, says Mr. Matthews, is whether it wants one man to draw all three salaries. There are about fifty of these courts in the United States, with not more than fifty men acting as clerks.

The country is full of worthy men who would be glad to act as clerk of the other courts, and the spirit of the law intends that 150 men shall be employed instead of 50. This arrangement presents the most exaggerated case of nepotism that can be found anywhere in the country, said Mr. Matthews, and a blinking at the violation of the law by the very men who are put in power to enforce the law. Such a condition of affairs would not be tolerated in any of the departments for a day without the heads of the bureaus being called up at a short turn by the accounting officers.

The trouble in the case of these clerkships is found in the fact that the district judges have passed upon the question, the majority holding that the clerks could hold all the offices and a few holding to the contrary.

MAJOR GENERAL HOWARD

He has Filed his Annual Report in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Major General Oliver O. Howard, commanding the military department of the East, devotes much space in his annual report to the war department, to the discussion of coast defenses. He says that at New York, San Francisco and Boston new guns and mortars are needed.

Many fixed torpedoes of sub-marine mines, have, however, been already constructed for use at these points. General Howard calls special attention to the necessity of having fortified points, as a basis of proper defense of our national interests and recommends that a complete defense of the combined arbors of Savannah, Ga., and Port Royal, S. C., by works on Tibee, Hilton Head, Parry and St. Helena Islands be established, as the most available points for that purpose.

Increased pay for non-commissioned officers is also recommended.

General Horward gives but a half hearted endorsement of the canteen system and says that no soldier should be permitted to act as a barkeeper in a canteen.

POLITICS IN THE PULPIT.

R. Heber Newton Takes an Interesting Text.

He Tells the People of New York of the Evils and the Remedy to Remove Them.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The sermon preached by the Rev. R. Heber Newton in All Souls' church Sunday morning dealt with the subject "Democracy."

"The Pan Republican congress," said he, "which will open in Chicago on the anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America, will be the most interesting congress of the time. Its delegates from all republican governments are to consider and formulate plans for the perfecting of democratic institutions, and necessarily for the improvement of the condition of mankind.

"We could not well be blind to the defects of democracy with the electric search light of the daily press turned upon our political institutions. We live in New York, breathe the dust of its filthy streets, drink the germs of disease which taint its Croton water and study with an ever increasing wonder the administration of justice by that eminent legal luminary who was floated last winter from the bar to the bench.

"None the less do we believe in democracy. We believe in it as the inevitable type of government in the near future. The task is far from complete. The incoming century will essay the perfecting of republican institutions. In no republic of the world, Switzerland excepted, are these institutions advanced beyond a rude form.

"Whatever other infant industries there may be in this country there is certainly one, the business of government.

"We must face the fact that we are ruled by an oligarchy, by the class known as professional politicians. You have lately seen the conventions of two great parties in our state meet and carry out the prearranged orders of their bosses.

"The only supremely important measure before our state in the coming election is the making sure that the road is opened to secure amendments to our ballot law as will enable us to secure the substance and not the form of an independent franchise. Here is the task in the immediate future for our statesmen—that is, for those who are of another type than that so well illustrated in the late lamented Wm. M. Tweed.

"We are behind other countries in the democratization of government. We have no city as well governed in the interest of the mass of its citizens as Glasgow, Berlin, Paris or a score of other European cities. Australia has now an eight hour law, owns its railroads, and generally is governed as though the ends of government were in reality the good of the whole people.

"The other task before us is the democratization of education. Less must be spent in the people's schools on the accomplishments of the few and more on the necessities of the many. The kindergarten must underlie our system and industrial education must be at least as well developed as it now is in the monarchial lands of Europe.

"Our system of land tenures must be revised in the interest of the people. Idle land in our suburbs must be taxed so heavily as to take it out of speculative idleness and open the way for homes. Our great railroads must be controlled by the state for the benefit of the commonwealth.

GOING OVER TO CAMPBELL

Cleveland Iron Workers Join Democracy.

They Will Turn Out in the Parade To-Night.

The Governor Royally Received in the Forest City—A Repetition of the Toledo and Cincinnati Ovations Will Occur To-Night.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—(Special)—Gov. Campbell arrived at Cleveland shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon, and was met at the station by the democratic clubs of the city and a large number of citizens.

He will speak at the armory to-night, and it is predicted that his meeting will be one of the largest political demonstrations ever witnessed in Cleveland.

On the train from Springfield this morning there were several members of the Garfield family, who were en route to Mentor.

They invited the governor to occupy their private car and he was their guest for quite a distance.

In the parade in this city to-night there will be a club composed of iron and steel workers who up to the present time have voted the republican ticket.

FIGHTING AN UGLY FIRE.

Hundred Thousand Dollar Blaze in Cleveland.

Big Tanks of Acid Explode, Scattering Fire and Bricks in All Directions—Firemen Injured.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—Fire broke out in a large four-story building at the corner of Center and Winslow streets at 3:30 this morning and a loss of $100,000 resulted.

The upper floor of the block was occupied by the Oxidized Acid company and it is supposed that the fire started in this department, as the result of spontaneous combustion.

Acids deposited in big tanks on the top floor caused a series of terrific explosions, and scattered bricks, stones and timbers in all directions.

Several firemen narrowly escaped being fatally injured by the flying missiles. The first, second and third floors were occupied by the Royalton Machine company and the Viaduct Brass company. The insurance will cover about two-thirds of the loss.

THE MAUMEE ROLLING MILL

Receives Orders to Shut Off Its Supply of Gas

The board of natural gas trustees is taking energetic measures in the matter of cutting off large consumers. A few days ago a notice was sent out notifying all large consumers that meters must be used as per contract and the established rate of 8c paid.

Quite a number, including the Toledo Electric Light company, responded that the instructions would be complied with. The Maumee Rolling Mills, it seems would not and could not pay the price.

As a result the Rolling Mills people were yesterday notified that their contract would expire on Nov. 1 and would not be renewed. H. S. Walbridge, president of the Rolling Mills was seen this morning by a Bee, but he was mum as a mouse. He admitted having received the notice but was not prepared to say what answer would be returned.

WILL FORCE A CLIMAX.

Abbott Requested to Remove Sir Hector Langevin.

New York, Oct. 21.—A special to the press from Ottawa says it is stated that the governor-general has requested Premier Abbott to take steps leading to the removal of the name of Sir Hector Langevin from the list of privy councilors for Canada at the suggestion of the imperial government, in accordance with the precedent in Sir Charles Dilke's case. The premier has promised to consider the request.

TO BUILD A TUNNEL.

London, Oct. 21.—The county council has given the contract to construct the tunnel which is to enter the Thames at Blackwell, East London to the Pearson company which offers to perform the work for £871,000.

DIPHTHERIA RAGING.

Paulding, O., Oct. 21.—(Special)—Considerable uneasiness is occasioned here by the spread of diphtheria, there being now about 50 cases, and new cases reported each day.

Two deaths have occurred up to date, they being the two young daughters of A. Bykee, who died a day apart—one Saturday and one Sunday.

FIVE MORE FAILURES.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—A Moscow dispatch says that five cloth factories of that city have suspended owing to the failure of a prominent firm. The aggregate liabilities of the factories are placed at three million roubles, while their assets amount to barely one-tenth of that sum.

WEATHERED THE GALE

London, Oct. 21.—The steamer City of Paris of the Inman line and the steamer Caspian have arrived at Queenstown.

How pleased I am to think that I purchase a Conover piano for my home, said Dr. Tobey. It pleases me better and better the longer I use it. A complete stock of these grand instruments can be seen at J. W. GREENE & CO.'S, Pythian Castle.

If you want a strictly first-class piano at a medium price you cannot afford to purchase without first looking at the Stultz & Bauer.

Plum Roll

BY MRS. S. T. RORER,

Principal Philadelphia Cooking School.

Add one teaspoonful of Cleveland's baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt to one pint of sifted flour. Sift again. Rub in one tablespoonful of butter, add sufficient milk to make a soft dough. Roll out, sprinkle with one cup of chopped raisins and a half cup of chopped citron. Dust with cinnamon, roll up and steam for thirty minutes. Serve warm with hard sauce.

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

The most healthful leaven is carbonic acid gas from pure cream of tartar and soda. It is the only leavening power of Cleveland's Baking Powder. That is why Cleveland's is perfectly wholesome, leavens most and leavens best. Try it, Cleveland's.

D. A. 72.

Knights of Labor of Northwestern Ohio in Session.

The third quarterly meeting of D. A. 72, K. of L., is in session in Walbridge hall to-day, with W. D. Hudson, master workman, of Napoleon, presiding. The local assemblies of Toledo are all represented, as are two locals of Napoleon, two of Fostoria, and one each from Bowling Green, Liberty Center, Findlay and Sandusky.

The report of officers show good financial condition and increased membership. One new local, at Liberty Center, has been organized during the quarter, with a membership of 41. Four new delegates were admitted this morning. Ten local assemblies are not represented at this meeting.

The afternoon was devoted to discussion of ways and means for entertaining the general assembly during its meeting in this city next month, and the district executive board was given full power to act in the matter. A committee from the city locals will be asked to assist.

It was decided that after the close of the present year the headquarters of the district should be in some quicter hall than the one now in use. The following resolutions, of interest to the public, were adopted:

Whereas, The workingmen of this country are compelled to work six days per week, without Saturday half holiday; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the demand of the working people of northwestern Ohio, represented by delegates in regular session of D. A. 72, Knights of Labor, at Toledo, October 21, 1891, that the arb department and all exhibits of the Columbian Exposition be opened on Sunday, for the benefit of the workingmen and their families.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, and the D. R. S. be instructed to forward a copy of the same to the Hon. Benj. Butterworth, secretary of the World's Fair board.

Carried unanimously.

KANSAS FARMERS.

While Opposed to Combines, They Yet Do a Little Combining Themselves.

Salina, Ks., Oct. 21.—The annual meeting of the Kansas farmers' alliance is in session here. President Frank McGrath is on excellent terms with himself. He has captured the advance guard and his re-election and consequent vindication seems a foregone conclusion.

The other candidates for president prominently mentioned are M. A. Householder of Cherokee, James Shull, the representative from Osage county; P. H. Maxson of Emporia and John Forney of Sumner county.

Only two candidates have developed any strength for state treasurer. They are W. H. Udey of Parsons and S. M. Scott of McPherson. Fred Bailey of Wichita, who called the alliance commercial congress together, is here, and G. W. Sandusky, the alliance exchange secretary, is expected this evening.

These two are engineering the scheme to have the Kansas alliance become part of the National Union company of New York and establish co-operative stores in every county in the state.

It is claimed by the alliance men that fully one-half of the grain is being held in the order. There are small elevators of 5,000 bushels capacity at nearly every shipping point in the state. These elevator companies have filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state as Farmers' Alliance Shipping association, and it was the original intention to hold the grain subject to the order of the general manager of the co-operative trust, which it was thought would be formed at this convention. The women of the alliance are here and they are going to take a hand. Mrs. Johns of this city, president of the Universal Suffrage association of this state, has invited the National Women's alliance to meet here and discuss with her the political situation.

SHE HAD A STORMY TIME.

The City of Paris Washed by Ocean Waves.

Four of the Lady Passengers Injured by the Heavy Rolling of the Ship.

London, Oct. 21.—Passengers by steamer City of Paris, which arrived at Queenstown to-day report the weather during the last three days of the voyage as having been fearful. On Sunday heavy seas swept over the steamer's deck. Four of the lady passengers were hurled to the floor of the saloon, one of them, Miss Clarkson, receiving a severe cut on the forehead.

Ten feet of the port side railing was carried away, and the carved ornaments on the vessel's stern were torn off.

The roaring of the wind and the beating of the wind created a terrific din.

Henry Danks, a steerage passenger, died yesterday. His body will be taken to Liverpool.

A FORGER AT WORK.

He Swindles a Number of Local Dealers.

The First National Bank Catches On of the Forged Checks—Let Merchants Beware.

The sneak-thief and forger who swindled so many Toledo citizens several months ago has turned up again in the city. He has swindled quite a number of local dealers and seems to be doing about as flourishing a business as he did when here before.

The First National bank holds one of the forged checks, and the victim was Mr. S. Mutter, the Cherry street meat merchant.

The check is drawn on William Peters and endorsed in pencil by William Meier. It is a forgery pure and simple, and it is so pronounced by Mr. Peters.

The fellow poses as a German who does not understand the customs or language of the country, and has an uncouth but persuasive eloquence that would coax the birds off the bushes. He seems the very personification of innocence.

He is believed by the bank officials to be the same duck who performed the series of small forgeries so successfully six or eight months ago.

Merchants should beware who they cash notes for, but notwithstanding this warning some of them will be taken in, particularly the few who do not read the Bee regularly.

A NEW SYSTEM.

Mr. Nusbaum, the new merchant tailor, is busy arranging his stores for the working of his new system of tailoring. By this new plan he will get out a suit of clothes in 12 hours, and a pair of pants in three hours. Short-time work will be subject to a slight advance in price over regular work. He will explain his new system fully to all who call.

Mr. N. employs his help by the week and pays them weekly. No piece work is given out.

The manufacturing will be done at 606 Cherry street, and the office and salesroom will be at 210 Jefferson street, in the Jefferson Hotel building. His business is assuming such proportions that he has given up going into hats and gents' furnishings, devoting his entire time to the new system of merchant tailoring. Mr. Nusbaum is a very entertaining gentleman, full of business energy, a welcome addition to the trade circles of the city.

In boring artesian wells on the Pacific coast great depths are reached before striking water. At Jaral and Monclara the wells are 1,536 and 1,280 feet in depth. The supply is inexhaustible, but the water has to be pumped. In Texas water has been struck at 2,031 feet at Haskell, 1,870 at Longfelder, and 1,608 at Spofford. The water is good, but it did not flow in August. In the California desert water was struck in one well at a depth of 1,400 feet, and another at 550 feet, but it was brakish.

RECEPTION AT TRINITY.

The pastor and good people of Trinity church are entertaining this afternoon delegations from Cleveland and New York bound for the annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which is to be held this week in St. Louis.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

LEWIS OUT ON BAIL.

S. F. Lewis, prisoner in the county jail on the charge of forgery, was released on $500 bail to-day, W. I. Squire signing the bond.

WANT TO CHANGE THE NAME.

The Page Street Wheel company applied in common pleas court to-day to have the name of the corporation changed to that of the Toledo Bicycle company, for the reason that the latter is more convenient and appropriate.

THEY WANT PAY FOR STOCK KILLED.

Edward Klotz sued the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad company in common pleas court to-day to recover $125 damages sustained by the loss of stock killed by a locomotive on that road. The plaintiff alleges that the railroad company failed to keep up the fences. John Meyer began a similar action to recover $150.

PHILIP BOUND OVER.

Philip Feidt, a saloonkeeper of Chicksaw, Mercer county, had a hearing yesterday afternoon before United States Commissioner Beckham on the charge of failure to post his revenue stamp. He was bound over in the sum of $200 to the United States district court.

ENRIGHT WINS.

The Alice Enright won the second race from the Josephine at Detroit yesterday by one minute and ten seconds. The Enright, owing to her length, had to give the Josephine considerable time and a dispute arose over the measurements. Both boats will be re-measured and a decision rendered in a few days.

WHOPPERS.

The steward of the Toledo asylum, Mr. Cahill, has the thanks of the Bee for a basket of the largest potatoes of the season. Several of them weighed more than two pounds each. Mr. Cahill estimates the potato crop on the asylum farm this year at over 4,000 bushels.

BOUND OVER.

Detective Nichter returned last evening from Monroe, Mich., bringing with him Wm. F. Linghoe, a young man who is charged with having stolen a watch from Charles Yeo on October 15. In police court this morning Linghoe waived examination on the charge of grand larceny, and was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500.

AN ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY.

An attractive display is neatly arranged in McKecknie & Oswald's, the popular photographers, show window on St. Clair street.

It consists of the likeness of each member of Ford post, G. A. R., cabinet size, all incorporated in one large frame. It attracts considerable attention.

REBITSKI SENT UP.

In criminal court this morning Michael Rebitski, charged with shooting with intent to kill, plead guilty to assault and battery and was sentenced by the court to three months in the Toledo work house and fined $25. Rebitski shot John Chemeleswki in a free-for-all row at the house of Peter Nowak during the christening of a child.

DEMOCRACY IN ADAMS.

A rousing democratic meeting was held in Adams township last evening. Mr. Byron Ritchie was expected to address the people, but could not attend. Hon. J. K. Russell of Mansfield was the speaker and a splendid speech he made. He handled the tariff question in a masterly manner and gave the boys a lively chapter on state affairs. Old Adams can be relied upon for a good report in November.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

The board of police commissioners meet this evening, and besides the routine affairs of the department that are to be acted upon, several officers will be called up to answer charges. These are Van Buskirk and Joseph Seigel for charges previously made. The resignation of Patrolman Moses Powder will also come before the board. More charges have been preferred against Powder, and these will be considered in connection with the resignation.

SWIFT PUNISHMENT.

A rubber coat was stolen last evening from in front of the dry goods store of Flory & Baker, East Side. Shortly afterwards Patrolman John Flanagan arrested a man on suspicion who was trying to sell a rubber coat in a second hand store on Perry street. The man gave his name as Thomas Ferguson, and the coat proved to be the one stolen from Flory & Baker. In police court this morning Ferguson plead guilty to petit larceny and was fined $20, costs and 20 days in the workhouse.

A NEW TOLEDO PAPER.

For some time it has been talked of in a quiet way that Toledo was a good center for a live woman's paper, and the project is now taking definite shape. Mrs. Claude Q. Murphy has been solicited to become its editor and founder, and good financial backing is guaranteed the enterprise. Definite conclusions will be reached at a meeting this afternoon, but there is little doubt the paper will be started. Suffrage, and a general review of economic and sociologic questions will be its field.

A BABIES' NURSERY.

The ladies of the King's Daughters circle of Toledo met at the Guild room, Trinity church, this morning. The object of the meeting was to get an expression of opinion from the presidents of the various local circles as to the feasibility of establishing a day nursery in the city where the babies of working women can be cared for during working hours. Owing to the small number of ladies present the meeting was adjourned to next Wednesday, at 10 a. m., when it is hoped definite action will be taken, with a larger attendance. Similar work is beautifully done in other large cities. Why not in Toledo?

BOUND FOR THE PEN.

Sheriff Stuart early this morning started to Columbus in charge of the following named prisoners, under sentence to various terms in the penitentiary: John Coakley, burglary and larceny, 1 year; George Debaulin, burglary and larceny, 7 years; John Reynolds, grand larceny, 1 year; John Vandebt, horse stealing, 1 year; George Vieath, 1 year; Peter Beaubien, 7 years; John Murphy, larceny, 2 years; James McCarty, larceny, 2 years; George Benedict, larceny, 5 years; Wm. Scott, grand larceny, 3 years; John Jones, burglary and larceny, 3 years; John Tapper, cutting with intent to kill, 2 years; Henry Ams, burglary and larceny, 3 years.

BIG SAND SEASON.

The sand dealers of the city have reaped a big harvest during the past season, and immense quantities of sand have been used. The sand suckers are still at work, but the season is now drawing to a close. "There has been a large amount of building and a great deal of sand has been used in the many street improvements of the summer. We put two new sand suckers at work last spring, and have had all the business we could handle. The sand suckers of all the firms have worked every day in the week, Sundays included, and still everybody was crowded with work."

THE JUNIOR YS.

An interesting meeting of this excellent organization was held in the First Congregational church yesterday afternoon, Miss Blanche Ford, president; Miss Grace Wright, secretary. Three divisions constitute this association: Crawford division, Miss Jennie Stewart, president; Jessica division, Mrs. Ellery Eaton, president; Willard division, Miss Jessie Foster, president, this division composed of boys. The joint meeting of the division was made up of devotional exercises, reading and responses, and singing, and was a very pleasant meeting indeed. The report of the secretary showed a membership of 150, and funds in hand sufficient for present needs. On motion $21 was voted to the national fund, and $1 was donated toward a wedding present for Miss Jessica Morgan, late superintendent of the state department, young women's work, W. C. T. U., who becomes a bride next month. The divisions then held their usual separate meetings, Mrs. Eaton giving a bright talk to her division on alcoholism; Miss Stewart talking to Crawford division on "Lessons in Usefulness," and Willard division electing officers as follows: President, Willie Fogar; vice president, Arthur Fisk; secretary, Clifford Stipp; treasurer, George Russell.

BOY THIEVES.

Three small boys, named Mike Rubel, William Johnkoski and Stanislaus Morosi, were arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of stealing seven hams from Walter Brown's meat market. The boys are Polish lads, aged 9, 11 and 12 years, and were in court alone.

Upon the trial of the case, Rubel, the youngest, was discharged and the other two were sentenced to the reform farm at Lancaster.

These boys were utterly helpless in court and their parents evidently did not care what became of them, as they were not on hand to speak a word for their sons.

NON-PARTISAN W. C. T. U.

The Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. L. Watson, Franklin avenue, and transacted considerable business. A committee which had previously been appointed on permanent headquarters reported that no suitable rooms could be secured, and it was decided to continue the parlor meetings. Mrs. McGlone, who was delegate to the state convention at Marysville last week, reported upon the work of that convention. She also stated that the place for holding the convention next year had not been decided upon, but it is between Toledo and Springfield, with the chances favorable to this city.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

London wheat market opening quiet, slow for spot; to arrive steady. Liverpool wheat quiet at decline of 1-2c to 1 penny on spot.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 1,203,615 bu., compared with 611,500 bu. on the same day last year.

California Wheat Movement.—The receipts at San Francisco in the week ending October 14 equaled 63 417 bu. of wheat and 18,523 barrels of flour. The exports equaled 648,053 bu. of wheat and 20,315 barrels of flour.

Population of India.—The last Indian census shows that in the past ten years the natural growth of India's population has been 27,500,000. The population now numbers 286,000,000. One can hardly appreciate what these figures mean by comparison. India contains more people than all Europe exclusive of Russia.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal points are 682,115 bu. in excess of the corresponding Wednesday in 1890.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 233,721 bu of wheat and flour to an aggregate of 275,000 bu.

English markets as reported herein are dull and lower for wheat and steady for corn.

Notwithstanding the very large movement in wheat since harvest, the accumulations at leading western points are very little more than last year at corresponding date. For example, at Duluth, Toledo, Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago and Milwaukee the stock of wheat is 11,465,000 bu., and last year 10,460,000 bu., or 1,005,000 bu. increase. Buffalo, the lakes and canal have 3,074,000 bu. more than last year. The seaboard has about 3,000,000 bu. more than last year, and there is where we are glad to see it, and hope the stock will increase, to meet the winter export demand.

The New York Produce Exchange Reporter says, "It becomes fatiguing to listen to the occasional remarks about mixing wheat at the seaboard. As far as New York is concerned we are confident there has been little or no mixing."

We have no occasion for controversy with our old friends, or new friends, on this subject, and we are only too glad to know that New York does not mix wheat. We thought they did so, semi-occasionally. What we do know and what English dealers ought to know is, that if England and France would import their wheat from western markets on certificates of inspection for No. 2, they would get a grade of wheat that will average 5c bushel better than the seaboard wheat as it goes to England. We do not attempt to account for it.

The receipts of wheat continue very free. Winter wheat movement is large for the season of year and we see nothing to indicate a decrease of it, while in the northwest taking one day with another, the movement is large.

Bradstreet's report of the visible supply makes wheat increased 2,895,000 bu. Corn decreased 1,610,000 bu. Oats decreased 679,000 bu. On the Pacific coast wheat increased 1,214,000 bu. Aggregate increase of wheat 4,095,000 bu.

The wheat markets of this country opened lower to-day and were weak for an hour, when buyers became more plenty, chiefly of the short persuasion, and prices began to improve, and not only regained the loss but gained 3-8 over yesterday's closing.

Corn has been very strong all day and closes 1c up east and west. English, German and French markets close without change of importance.

New York telegraphs that Russia has prohibited the export of oats and barley, and oats are higher east and west.

In New York October and December wheat closed at a gain of 1 3-8c. October and November corn at gain of 1c. October oats advanced 1c.

In Chicago December wheat closed 7-8c higher. October corn 7-8c and November 1c higher. November oats 1-2c higher.

In Toledo the trading in wheat futures has been moderately active, with some fluctuations. Opening prices were 1-2c lower, and the market declined an additional 1-4c, and then became firmer and advanced. At the close Dec. wheat was 5-8c higher, and May the same. At the call Dec. sold at 98c. After the call, Dec. sold at 98c to 97 3-4c and closed at 99 1-8c. May sold at 104 1-2c to 104c and closed at 105 1-8c. January sold at 100c to 99 7-8c.

Cash heat was firm and active. Opened 1-2c lower and closed 3-4c higher than yesterday. No. 2 soft sold at 96c to 96 1-4c, and at close 97 1-4c was the price. No. 3 soft at 92 1-2c to 3-4c. No. 4 soft at 87 -12c. Rejected No. 1 at 88 to 89c. No. 2 hard at 93c. No. 3 hard at 87 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2, 56 1-2c to 57c. No. 2 yellow at 58c. Oats held higher. No. 2 about 30c. No. 2 white at 32 1-4c. Rye was nearly steady. No. 2 at 88 1-4c. Nov. 88 1-2c No. 3 at 85c.

Clover Seed was dull but about steady. On the call Dec sold at $4 55. After the call prime for cash held at $4 52 1-2. Dec. at $4 55. No. 2 at $4 15 to $4 25.

Another triumph for the McKinley tax law: The conference between the employers and employes of the Edgar Thomson steel works near Pittsburg ends in a substantial reduction of wages.

The officers of the Ohio formers' alliance have issued a manifesto to the people disclaiming fellowship with the people's party. No politics except the politics of the individual is the alleged political status of these manifestants.

The record of Maud S. is broken and another queen of the turf is crowned. Sunol trotted a mile on the Oakland, California, track in 2:08 1-4. The fast ones have been after Maud many years, but it was reserved for one of Bonner's clippers to keep the record in his own stable.

The plain statement of Mr. Robert Pratt about the present condition of working people in England seems to have rattled the republicans. The evening journal of protection turned its staff loose on Robert last night, but to no good purpose for the high taxers. Everything said to the Bee is true. Protection is a fraud and the McKinley law is a monstrosity.

Republicans are confident of Lucas county and northwestern Ohio. Oh, yes; and that's why they pile McKinley, Foraker, Foster, Sherman and Tom Reed in here on the eve of the election when time is precious and the best the party has to offer is needed where it will do the most good! Very confident, very, are these sick republican chaps.

A distinguished republican speaker in Ohio announced last week that the prohibition party, the people's party and every other new political organization is opposed to the republican party. Well, why not? The republican party has not legislated wisely for the people, has been a sectional party of hate and a centralized party of spoils. No wonder all the other political organizations oppose it.

There is double method in the extra effort of the republican committee to give Mr. Foraker a rousing reception tomorrow night. They want to equal the Campbell reception, though this difference must be recognized: the tremendous Campbell crowd was the spontaneous response to the simple announcement that he would speak in Toledo. Then, the anti-Sherman crowd in Toledo are determined to make the Foraker meeting so large that the Sherman meeting, which was engineered by Jim Brown and Judge Austin, will appear a miserable side show. The republican hair pulling in Toledo proceeds to the entire satisfaction of democrats.

One of the principal arguments urged in favor of changing the time of holding our state elections from October to November was the desire of all parties to avoid the national prominence and attendant large expenses of conducting the campaigns; but, here we are, a November state, rushing the campaign like a presidential contest, and brass bands, cannon, clubs, dollars and oratory are in a high old mix. Well, the Buckeyes are famous politicians and ready for fun and business two or three times a year. Politics is a healthy exercise, and, pursued within proper limits, makes better patriots, as more or less the history of the country and the record of parties is reviewed and studied when the campaigns take on their most fervid heat. So, whoop it up on the Ohio plan, get out every vote and our Jimmy will get there in splendid fashion.

They are beginning to hedge already. A circulating correspondent writes to a Toledo republican newspaper that "the people's party vote will cause a greater abatement in the democratic vote, while the new system of voting may cause a diminution in the republican vote for the reason that the party as a whole is not so thoroughly aroused as to the importance of familiarizing itself with the intricacies of its requirements."

Remarkable "because" for the probable diminution in the republican vote! Strange confession for the party which assumes to possess all the intelligence in the land. Some not who, according to accounts, are inundating the state in their homes to republican orators, are still "not so thoroughly aroused as to the importance of learning how to vote when the ballot is so simple a child need not puzzle over it. No doubt the secret ballot will cause a diminution in the republican vote," as it has wherever tested, but not for the cause aforesaid.

To register. This duty must be performed as preliminary to the exercise of the privilege and right of suffrage. Right and privilege are words of little importance to the man who comprehends the individual sovereignty of the American citizen. It is the right to vote which makes all American electors equal, and it is the blessed privilege we all now enjoy of casting our ballots without interference of any character. Right and privilege! The man who does not appreciate this double blessing, and who will not avail himself of the opportunity, is not worthy to be called an American citizen. Do not let it be said that democrats are too unpatriotic to vote, but let it be fully understood that the right to vote can only be exercised after the voter has been properly registered. Do your full duty, fellow democrats. Register and vote.

The American tin made in Philadelphia—and made to sell—is superior to any made in Wales. Yankee ingenuity has already solved the problem, and solved it better than the Welshmen have done in 100 years of experience. Think of the possibilities of tin manufacture when the American mines are developed.—Media, Pa., American.

If these things be true—and every American will hope that they are—and if it also be true that the price of tin wares has not advanced; and that "any boy or girl in Montgomery county can dip the plates" (vide John Sherman); and that the mines and factories of Wales are crippled before the McKinley law has fairly got in its work (having gone into effect only three months ago)—then what need of a double tax on the article to insure its makers a big per cent. profit? And how comes that profit by virtue of the tax? Prices are not advanced, we are told, and the quantity of tin that was hustled into the country ahead of the date of the law's enforcement must represent foreign competition—what's the need of that tax anyhow, and how does it help or hinder anybody?—if these things be true.

To be sure Mr. McKinley himself flatly contradicted Mr. Sherman, when he said the Welshmen who are employed in our "tin factories" are skilled workmen who must do the dipping and finishing, and we have yet no workmen who understand it. The whole matter is in a bad tangle, but the high taxers are as busy to clear it up, and if the people will only listen and not question until after the November elections, then the whole tin business will—drop.

The opium smuggling business, as shown up in dispatches this week, is a direct outgrowth of the mischief-making McKinley tax law. And so is all other smuggling, the extent of which is, manifestly by the light let in now and then upon the matter, beyond the extent of the most liberal imagination. With ten thousand miles of coast line and four thousand miles of land boundary, with the innumerable army employed, the majority of whom are looking out for themselves with the cupidity of the tradesmen, with the ways in which even a government officer can close his eyes and reach out his hand, with all these conditions in favor of the smuggler, who can imagine the extent of the swindle? With a tax of twelve dollars a pound on opium to shut out legitimate importations and a heavy tax on the home manufacturer to discourage production, the easy way is open for the smuggler, and there's millions in it it is the whisky ring over again, only worse and more of it, with United States senators now, as then, in the deal.

The whole miserable business is a system of fraud and a deliberate steal under cover of law. A shrewd collector of customs puts more bribe money in his vest pocket every day than an honest laborer can earn in three months, and gets a good salary for doing it. It is history that one argument for breaking down the tax barriers about England's commerce was the confessed inability of the government to suppress the smuggling that was carried on in spite of the severity of the laws and penalties against it.

Secretary Foster, in a mild estimate, puts the value of smuggled goods at $25,000,000 a year. The tendency of the McKinley law to corrupt the public service from the humblest clerk up to the United States senator is sufficient cause for its repeal, if there were no other. Honest men who hear only one little song sung about "protecting the laboring man," who read only one little primer story of the beautiful theory, how to put alms in a rich man's pockets helps the poor man who lives next door to him may go on voting for this system of robbery that benefits a small army of leeches, but he is helping to hinder the prosperity of his country and to reduce his own lot, little by little, to that of the peasant under an old-world monarchy.

MILLARD ON NATURALIZATION.

He Will Give the Democrats a Chance This Evening.

Probate Judge Millard has decided at the request of the democratic executive committee, to hold open court from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening with a view of giving aliens who desire to become citizens a chance of so doing.

Mr. Millard will also extend similar favors to the other side. It behooves democrats to get a move on them in this matter. Bring any one you know desirous of becoming a citizen to the court house this evening and have him get out his papers.

Judge Millard says the number of naturalizations is much larger than two years ago, and are breaking about equal, between democrats and republicans.

BOARD OF UNDERWRITERS

Discuss the Letting of Contracts by the School Board.

The board of underwriters held an interesting session in Secretary Lang's office yesterday afternoon. The trouble between the school board and the insurance agents of the city was discussed at length and definite action postponed, poned.

It was decided to wait until after the meeting of the school board next Monday night. If the board fails to come to time there will be trouble.

Republican P. S.—"Burn This Letter."

Mr. Blaine's letter to the inquiring Ohio editor who desired an explanation of his famous criticism of the original McKinley bill, (that it did not open a market for a bushel of our wheat or a pound of our pork,) can hardly afford the Ohio disciples of McKinley much satisfaction, although it is a very pretty card for Mr. Blaine.—Boston Herald.

FULTON COUNTY POLITICS

McKinley and His Comic Opera Company.

They Will Commence in Wauseon Next Week.

Verily, the Republican Position This Fall Makes the Style of Campaign Tally with the Eternal Fitness of Things.

Wauseon, Oct. 21.—(Special)—Major McKinley will be at this place and address the people of Fulton county on the afternoon of October 28. On the same evening the comic opera Iolanthe will be produced under the auspices of the McKinley club.

Although it is not so stated upon the bills, possibly the Hon. Wm. McKinley may stay to see the production and investigate the merits of this new manner of raising campaign funds.

The opera will be produced three evenings and may be the means of revolutionizing the manner of raising campaign funds. Most certainly the arguments in favor of a 60 per cent. tariff law and that the foreign producer pays it will go well with comic opera and possibly may have the immense success that attended the tin canes and the buttons that are only seen in the hands or upon the lapel of two or three boys in any towns of the size and intelligence of Wauseon.

It is needless to say that liberal, intelligent republicans are rather ashamed than otherwise at the adoption of comic opera in an educational campaign and rather frown down upon this manner of raising campaign funds. The democrats enjoy it and will use it to good effect.

And, by the way, speaking of democrats reminds your correspondent that never in the history of the democratic party of Fulton county has such a thorough organization been formed and never has the party been in better shape.

Free sugar has opened the eyes of voters as to who paid the tariff previous to the passage of the McKinley bill.

Increased tariff on wool has shown the wool growers that the opposite effect was produced from what was claimed by McKinley and wool sold from three to five cents per pound less than before the increase.

Lincoln said, "You can fool part of the people all the time and all the people part of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time," and the people of Futon have been fooled about a high tariff long enough.

McKinley went a notch too far when he placed sugar upon the free list and gave the producers of Louisiana a bounty of two cents a pound. Many republicans wish to know why, if it is a good thing to have sugar free why it is not a good thing to have many other articles free, and if it is right to pay sugar producers a bounty why it could not have been a good thing to make tin free and pay a bounty equivalent to the tariff to the manufacturer if we ever have any.

Democrats are much amused at the attempt of J. C. Rorick to make himself out a farmer—many who have only known him as a money loaner and note shaver for the last 15 or 20 years are surprised that he should make such ridiculous claims.

Hon. John Ryan paid Wauseon a visit last week and shook hands with a host of democratic friends. He was assured by many republicans that they would give him not only their votes upon election day but that they would do good work for him from now till that time.

Honest John was more than pleased by the outlook in republican Fulton; it is predicted by his friends that he will cut Rorick's majority down to 500 (the leading democrats conclude McKinley 650 majority.

Mr Ryan visited the Tariff Reform club's room and was pleased to find a club so thoroughly organized and with a membership running into the hundreds here in the heart of rabid republicanism.

A STUDY OF COLUMBUS

Interesting Meeting of the Isabella Reading Circle.

The members of the Toledo Isabella association and their guests met with Mrs. S. J. Foley, 620 Lagrange street, yesterday afternoon. Promptly at 4 o'clock the meeting was called to order by president R. L. Segur, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary A. P. Stevens and approved.

The committee on course of study reported through its secretary, Mrs. C. Q. Murphy, and the report was accepted, adopting the following as the subjects of papers for the coming year:

The financial and political conditions in Spain during the Fifteenth century.

The manners, customs and dress of upper and lower classes in Spain during the Fifteenth century.

The Northmen and pre-Columbian discoveries in the western hemisphere.

The naming of America, and the settlement of Florida by DeLeon.

Magellan and his discoveries.

Cortez, his voyages and his companions.

Pizarro, and the conquest and settlement of Peru and Chili.

DeSoto and his discoveries.

The Aztecs.

The Incas of Peru.

The story of the loss of the Spanish possessions in South America.

The story of the loss of the Spanish possessions in North America.

On motion of Miss Mary Law the following subjects were added: The extermination of the Indians and the introduction of African slavery.

The first of these papers will be given at the next meeting by Mrs. Dr. Bacon, and the second at the next meeting following, by Mrs. Susan I. Moore.

President Segur announced that certificates of membership in the Isabella association were not transferable, and that stock in the Isabella statue, $5 a share, would be sold in Toledo by Mrs. Foley.

Mrs. Judge Seney read a newspaper article relative to the location of the Isabella pavilion.

The paper of the afternoon was read by Miss Mary Law, a review of the voyages of Columbus, his last days and his death, and an interesting discussion followed.

The next meeting will be held on the third Tuesday in November, with Mrs. Susan I. Moore, 2233 Maplewood evenue, beginning at 4 p. m. It is likely an evening circle will be formed for teachers and other ladies engaged during the day, and that the afternoon circle will after that meet at an earlier hour.

The Foreigner and the Tax.

The people would dearly like to know whether the government has succeeded in making the foreigner pay the tax. For instance, if the government has imported $50,000 worth of window glass somebody must have paid about $64,000 tax on the glass. The people would like to know whether the government collected the $64,000 from the foreigner who sold it the glass for $50,000. If so the foreigner must have given it the glass and $14,000 in cash besides as compensation for relieving him of the glass. If any foreigner has done this we want him in a glass cage as a curiosity as long as the world's fair continues in 1893.—Chicago Herald.

What Teddy Is There For.

Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt "hopes" that the federal employes in the New York offices will not respond to the call of the republican committee for subscriptions. If Commissioner Roosevelt has any reason for existence, officially, it is to institute measures for punishing federal officials who violate the reform law, not to "hope" that the subordinates of these law breaking officials will not yield to the pressure put upon them. "Teddy" is evidently a good deal more of a partisan than a reformer.—New York World.

The Situation Now

Secretary Foster has reprimanded that subtreasurer at Boston who refused to redeem a $1,000 treasury note in gold coin, and the situation now is that treasury notes will be redeemed in gold coin upon demand in any city in which an election is pending.—Chicago Times.

POLITICAL POINTERS

Meetings Last Evening—Democrats Organizing for Victory.
Register, Register, Register!

The republicans are making strenuous efforts to give Foraker a reception that will equal that tendered Campbell. They can't do it.

The First ward democratic club got down to business last evening and will see to it that every democrat is registered.

Otto Fellows and others of that ilk who have contracted to turn over the labor vote of the county to the republicans may find that he cannot deliver the goods.

There was a mere handful of heelers present at the Third ward republican rally last evening. They decided to assist the Seventh ward in welcoming Foraker.

The republican blow-out in the Fifth last evening was not a glaring success.

The democratic trustees of the Second ward held a meeting last evening at which it was decided to get out a full registeration. The Second is all right.

Every democrat who cares a cent for his party or his ticket should donate one hour's time to the cause this week and spend it in hunting up democrats who have so far failed to register. Now is the time to give the cause a boost.

The interest taken in the campaign by the republicans of the Seventh ward was shown last evening by the fact that not over a dozen people were present at the club meeting.

The democratic county ticket is good for 500 majority on the average if the vote is only got registered. Hustle around and get your neighbor to register.

Jake Englehardt was up in he Fifth last night trying to square himself with some Irish friends. Jake is as deep in the mud as John Stuart is in the mire.

Chairman Tucker is trying to explain the meaning of his East Side speech. He does not deny the statement made in the Bee, but states he did not say McKinley should be slaughtered. He only gave them strong pointers.

Harry Dowling is making the hottest kind of a campaign. You can't get a bet on Stuart, not a bet.

"Foster Warren will beat Englehardt by 1,500 votes, and don't you forget it," said an Eighth ward republican yesterday.

Five members of the Central Labor Union have hired out to the republican executive committee and have agreed to deliver the labor vote of the city to that organization.

PRELIMINARY OBSEQUIES

Over the Remains of Father Braire.

Impressive Ceremonies This Morning—The Funeral Will Take Place on Friday

The death of the lamented Father Braire has caused the deepest sorrow not only among his parishioners, but among the Catholics of the city generally.

The preliminary obsequies at the residence and church this morning were solemnly impressive. The remains were transferred from the residence to the church at 9:30 this morning. Rev. Father Hannin, assisted by Rev. Father McCarthy and other priests of the city, preceded the coffin into the church chanting the "Miserere" and "De Profundus." The body was borne by Mr. Joseph Duprez, Mr. Peter Gundson and other members of the church council.

The body will lie in state in the church until Friday morning. Last evening the secretary of St. Joseph's society notified all the Catholic societies of the city of the time of the funeral. Meetings will be held this evening to take action on attending the funeral and an immense concourse is expected to be present at the funeral.

Monseignor Boff has notified Father Hannin that he will be in attendance, and it is understood that he will officiate at the Requiem mass on Friday morning. It is expected that 150 priests from Ohio and Michigan will attend the funeral. The remains will be placed in the vault at Calvary cemetery.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Naturalization Papers.

To the Editor: There is one important feature connected with the Australian system of balloting which requires the re-registration this fall, to which little attention has been given, in the way of instruction to those who purpose voting at the coming election, as to the production of papers by persons who are naturalized citizens when they come before the registration boards; in many cases men (of both parties) relying on years of voting privilege have stated that they would not take the trouble again to present themselves for registration; this is all wrong, no matter how well the registrars know a man and recognize his right to vote they have no discretion in the matter; a naturalized citizen must produce his papers if he has them in his possession; if he has lost them all that is then necessary is for the party to swear, or affirm, to the fact of such loss, when he will be allowed to register. This is to be an important election; and I have written this in the hope that in the columns of your paper you will exemplify through its very valuable and generally read columns the absolute necessity of every naturalized citizen taking his papers with him when he presents himself for registration. Neither party can afford to lose its strength by reason of neglect of so important a duty, and will thank you to make this feature prominent from now until the registration days close.

THE FRANCO-PRUSSIAN WAR.

Gen. Von Moltke's history of this great war has just been published, and in the end he sums up the results as follows:

Thus a war, carried on with such a vast expenditure of force on both sides, was brought to an end by incessant and restless energy in the short period of seven months. Even in the first four weeks eight battles took place, under which the French empire collapsed and the French army was swept from the field. Fresh forces, massive but incompetent, equalized the original numerical superiority of the Germans, and it needed 12 more battles to secure the decisive siege of the enemy's capital. Twelve fortified places were taken, and not a single day passed without a struggle, great or small.

The war had cost the Germans many victims; they lost 6,247 officers, 123,453 men, 1 flag and 6 guns.

The total losses to the French were incalculable; in prisoners alone they amounted to: In Germany, 11,860 officers and 371,981 men; in Paris, 7,456 officers and 241,686 men; disarmed in Switzerland, 2,191 officers and 88,381 men, making a total of 21,508 officers and 702,048 men.

One hundred and seven flags and eagles, 1,915 field guns and 5,526 fort guns were captured.

KOCH'S LYMPH IN A NEW FORM.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—In an article by Prof. Koch to be published to-morrow the origin and formula of his remedy for tuberculosis will be treated. He will announce that he has succeeded by chemical experiments in purifying the lymph of all inflammatory matter. The effect of the pure lymph does not differ materially from that of crude. The amount of the dose determines the effect.

POEMS BY RUSKIN.

London, Oct. 21.—Two handsome volumes of poems, written by John Ruskin at various times when he was between the ages of 7 and 26 years have just been published in this city. They are interesting mainly as furnishing evidence of the author's precocious genius.

A MONUMENT TO GRADY.

Atlanta and the South Honors Her Son.

The Love and Respect of His People Fully Shown.

Governor Hill Loudly Cheered by the Thousands Who Had Assembled to Witness the Unveiling Ceremonies.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 21.—The monument erected in memory of Henry W. Grady on one of the principal streets of Atlanta was unveiled to-day in the presence of the governor of New York, the governor of Georgia and a large assemblage of southern people.

The universal love and respect in which Henry Grady was held, more than the presence of New York's chief executive, gave to the occasion a more than local interest. The entire nation was interested in the erection of the monument and Atlanta to-day felt as though the nation's sympathies were with her people in honoring the distinguished dead.

The hour set for the ceremony was high noon. A cloudless sky in the early morning gave promise of a bright day. The promise was well fulfilled, for when the hour for assembling—10:30 o'clock—arrived, the sun shone brightly on the busy streets of the city.

The sound of music and the tramp of marching feet had been heard all through the forenoon as the militia companies and the civil organizations which were to take part in the parade marched to the place of assembling.

A local committee headed by the president of the Grady Monument association, Mr. Northen, had called at the hotel and escorted Gov. Hill to the state capitol, where Gov. Northern received him. Mrs. Grady with her son and daughter were in waiting in the governor's room with the members of the Grady monument committee.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Gov. Hill was escorted to a carriage drawn by four white horses which stood at the foot of the capitol steps. He was accompanied by Gov. Northern, Mr. Northen and Clark Howell, who succeeded Henry Grady as managing editor of the Atlanta Constitution. Mrs. Grady and her children were escorted to another carriage, and the distinguished visitors from New York were distributed with members of the monument committee in the carriages following.

In the fifth division of the grand parade were representatives of the press, including 200 men from the editorial, business, typographical and mechanical departments of the Constitution. Behind them marched a squad of newsboys.

Besides those already named there were in the carriages Mayor Hemphill and the members of the general council and a committee from the traveling men's association. Following the line of carriages came the fire department with seven companies and 70 men in line. Mayor Hemphill had declared the day a holiday.

The procession passed through the principal streets of the city—Mitchell to Whitehall, to Alabama, to Lloyd, to Decatur, to Pryor, to Peachtree, to Marietta, and thence to the statue. As the first division passed the monument the Grady cadets were detached and they surrounded the platform about the statue as a guard of honor.

The procession passed on through Forsyth street to Walton and back to Marietta, returning to mass its divisions about the monument, after the governor and his guests had left their carriages.

Gov. Northen, Gov. Hill and other guests with the members of the monument committee took seats on the stand where accommodations had been provided for 500. Gov. Hill was greeted with loud applause by the crowd which had assembled about the monument and which filled Marietta street in both directions.

It was shortly after noon when the Mexican band had rendered a selection. President Northen called the assemblage to order.

Miss Gussie Grady, the only daughter of Henry Grady, then stepped forward and drew the cord which held the ensign encircling the figure on the monument. The cloth dropped from the statue, leaving the bronze figure revealed. It was greeted with cheer after cheer by the great assembly.

When the noise had in part subsided, Rev. J. W. Lee was introduced to deliver the invocation.

At its conclusion Hon. Fulton Colville read a statement prepared by the monument committee giving a brief history of the movement for the erection of the monument.

The Mexican band rendered another selection and Hon. Clark Howell stepped to the front of the platform to introduce the orator of the occasion David B. Hill, governor of New York.

Gov. Hill received a most enthusiastic greeting from the assemblage, and delivered an interesting speech.

FOSTER IS COMING.

Big Guns to Stump the State and Try and Save McKinley.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Secretary Foster left for Ohio last night in a special car. He was accompanied by ex-Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army Warner and Secretary Jerry Rusk.

Secretary Foster is billed to make campaign speeches at Findlay Thursday night, Wellington Friday night, Ashton Saturday night, and Toledo, Sandusky and other cities in the following week.

He will make 10 speeches in all and will remain in Ohio until after the election. His Findlay speech will be the effort of the series, and will be devoted to a discussion of the tariff and silver questions.

Mrs. Charlotte Smith left for Ohio tonight to take part in the campaign in behalf of the people's party candidates. She is loaded to the guard with statistics and literature, and evidently expects to create something of a sensation.

THE WRECK OF THE PECK.

An Attempt Will be Made to Pump Her Out To-day.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 21.—Last advices from Lake George flats are that the pumps now in position will start pumping out the wheat cargo this afternoon. Pumping would start earlier but for damage to the wreckers' work by passing steamers.

The Peck's bow is badly damaged as far down as the water line. The heavy timber rails projecting above the water line and surrounding the hull of the wreck had been more or less damaged by steamers drifting against it. The test to-day will develop the weak points if there are any. The fleet shows scarcely any diminishing, owing to steamers that first passed the wreck having now returned with cargoes.

BURNED TO DEATH.

An Awful State of Affairs Dawned on Returning Parents.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 21.—Near Lime Rock, Ala., last night John Long, a farmer, and his wife, went to visit a sick neighbor leaving their four children at home asleep. The hall lamp was left burning. Returning at 2 o'clock this morning the Longs found the house in ruins and three of the children, aged twelve, six and two years burned to death. The other child, a boy of 14, is fatally injured. It is supposed that the lamp exploded.

SENT TO JAIL.

Dublin, Oct. 21.—Frank Dubedat, the stock broker and late president of the Dublin stock exchange, has been sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment for breach of the bankruptcy laws, and to seven years' penal servitude for stock broking frauds.

When Dubedat's wrong doing was discovered he fled to Cape Colony, South Africa, but was followed, captured, and brought back to this city.

M'KNIGHT BEFORE COURT.

He Pleads His Own Case in Columbus.

Extradited for Forgery and Convicted of Horse Stealing, He Claims, is Not According to Blackstone.

Columbus, O., Oct. 21.—The plea of Hiram P. McKnight, the Wood county convict at the penitentiary who is seeking freedom by the habeas corpus route, was heard by the supreme court yesterday.

It will be remembered that McKnight is the man whom the supreme court ordered Warden Dyer to produce before that tribunal two weeks ago.

The warden failed to obey the order and was held to answer for contempt. McKnight was received at the penitentiary April 17, 1891, on a sentence of three years. He bases his habeas corpus proceedings on the ground that he was extradited from New York for the crime of forgery and then tried and convicted on another indictment, namely: for obtaining money under false pretenses.

He was brought to the state house at an early hour by Warden Dyer and acted as his own attorney when the case was taken up at 10 o'clock.

McKnight made a long argument to show that his conviction was illegal because he was tried on a charge for which he had not been convicted. His argument was quite forcible, and it was plainly evident that it impressed the court favorably.

McKnight was an attorney at law before his conviction, which accounts for his conducting his own case. Attorney General Watson and the assistant prosecutor of Wood county followed in argument for the state.

They claimed that the prisoner had sacrificed any defense he might have had on the point raised by pleading to the indictment when his case was first called.

The case was called, he pleaded not guilty, and it was postponed to the next term of court, when the man refused to go on trial on the ground that the prosecution was unconstitutional. The case was thereupon tried against his protest.

The supreme court, after hearing the arguments, reserved the decision one week.

The case of contempt against Warden Dyer was then taken up. Attorney General Watson acted as counsel for the warden and presented a long apology for that official's failure to produce the prisoner at the proper time. He said the warden was very busy, a meeting of the board of managers being on hand and demanding his attention, and that he had instructed one of his deputies to take the prisoner over to the court. The deputy had failed to obey the order. By a conflict of authority the warden had been almost compelled to be in contempt again to-day. He was ordered to take a prisoner to the United States court at Cincinnati late yesterday and had to ride all night in order to return in time to appear in the supreme court here.

The decision in the warden's case was also withheld.

SENATOR JOHN SHERMAN.

Senator John Sherman is conceded to be one of the greatest financiers in this country. He has served in the senate of the United States over a quarter of a century; therefore Senator Sherman is a very wealthy man, his thrifty habits are all well known to those who may have dealings with him, he is close-fisted. That is no reason that a senator of the United Staets should pension private servants off on the government to be supported during his summer vacations in Ohio. No man can be trusted when he will resort to such little contemptible picayunish business, putting in office four of his family servants because he has the power to do so while he is stumping out in Ohio to be returned to the United States senate.

Senator Sherman has his private waiter, Robert Walker, colored, on the capitol list of employes. Mrs. Mary Johnson, his cook, is also provided for in the interior department, his colored footman is in the treasury department, and his gardener and all round man is also in the treasury department. These persons are in office at present writing including his chambermaid. Senator Sherman sent only his coachman to Ohio. This has been going on for years, and by so doing he has taken the bread out of five persons' mouths. Senator Sherman is a very wealthy man. Again I say, this business is too small for a great financier, pensioning his servants in government offices when he is a millionaire and abundantly able to pay his servants the year round.—Working Woman.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—A physician of this city writes that 22 different species of bacteria find a lodgement in the human mouth. Kissing he pronounces to be a habit of untold danger, and one which should be abandoned.

If, however, the human family entire cannot be pursuaded to reform in this respect, the writer suggests the use of respirators by those who persist in the error of their ways.

She could not take Cod Liver Oil.

Dr. J. P. SMITH, Danbury, Ct., writes:

"In the case of a young lady who has Consumption, I find, to my surprise, that she can take, without the slightest difficulty,

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion
WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES

while she could not take any preparation of Cod Liver Oil, or in fact anything that had a suspicion of being disagreeable. I despaired of her life four weeks ago, but she has gained strength lately, and has no fainting spells, which were very frequent. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion was the only change made in treatment."

It is truly wonderful in its effects, and is not to be confounded with any other Emulsion.

TORTURING ECZEMA.

Editor Iowa Plain Dealer Cured of Insufferable Itching and Pain by the Cuticura Remedies.

No Less Than Five Physicians Consulted. Their Combined Wisdom Followed Without Benefit.

I am sixty-six years old. In August, 1889, was troubled with the peculiar skin disease to which people of my age are subject, known among medical men as eczema. Its first appearance was near the ankles. It rapidly extended over the lower extremities until my legs were nearly one raw sore; from legs the trouble extended across the hips, shoulders and the entire length of the arms, the legs and arms greatly swollen with an itching, burning pain, without cessation. Although the best medical advice attainable was employed, no less than five physicians of the place being consulted and the prescriptions being the result of their combined wisdom, the disease though apparently checked, would recur in a few days as bad as ever; during its progress my weight fell away about 25 pounds. As an experiment I began the use of CUTICURA, following the simple and plain instructions given with the REMEDIES, and in four weeks found myself well, with skin soft and natural in color, the itching and pain entirely relieved. The death of Mrs. Henrietta Lamar, at Santa Anna, Tex., recalls the fact that the members of that noted southern family have borne some curious names. The Chinese are very particular about lucky and unlucky colors. Among the recent products of wire manufacturing is one having a measurement of 1-500th of an inch in diameter—much finer, of course, than the hair of one's head. The wire is drawn through what is practically a hole in a diamond, to which there is no wear. These diamond plates are made by a woman in New York who has a monopoly of the art in this country.

As leader of the house of commons the late William Henry Smith won the respect of all parties. His answers to the brilliant and sarcastic eloquence of the government's opponents were always suave and soft, and often acted as a sedative when the house was excited. He was most given to the use of proverbial quotations, which led Punch years ago to give him the title of "Old Morality."

The coolness of the Austrian emperor the other day, when he heard of the dynamite outrage, in saying: "If a bridge be blown up we shall have to get out and walk," reminds the Pall Mall Gazette of Sir Thomas Moore's sang froid when his head was on the block. Madame Witt, the retired opera singer who recently committed suicide in Vienna, had a voice of wonderful range. She could sing the music of the Queen of the Night in "The Magic Flute" one evening, and the next that of Azucena in "Il Trovatore." The great drawback to her success was her plainness. She resembled a humble German housewife in looks; and, in fact, was eccentric enough, in the days of her fame and prosperity, to perform such menial household duties as scrubbing her own doorsteps.

A "Church Trust" is proposed by the Bath and Wells Diocesan conference, with the Archbishop of Canterbury as president. The main and supreme trust would be the "Patriarchal." Then there would come the "provincial," "diocesan," and the "parochial." There would be a charter defining the purposes aimed at, and there would be besides the church house and buildings a great court house. The purpose of the new organization would be to place the property and control of the English church in one central body.

OUTLAWS RULE THE LAND

Overland Paths Traveled by the Smugglers.

Officials Terrorized by Murderous Toughs.

Operations of the Men Who Make it a Business to Import Opium and Chinese—How the Work is Done

New Westminster, B. C., Oct. 21.—Congress willl be pre-eminently occupied at its next session with three questions:

1. Fraudulent and excessive pension legislation.

2. Fraudulent and unjust enumeration in Mr. Porter's census.

3. Fraudulent evasions of the revenue and open smuggling, encouraged by the high tariffs of the McKinley bill.

Of these three questions the last is likely to present the most difficult problems, and its solution will be nowhere more difficult than right here on the northwestern border, or "jumping off place," of the United States.

This busy little city, with its 6,000 inhabitants, is the point of departure for the hundreds of Chinamen who make the overland trip into the state of Washington.

The Puget Sound opium ring also has its agents here, and vast quantities of opium are smuggled over the trails and by the railroad into Washington, to find its way to Tacoma and Seattle and to Portland, Ore.

A large amount of prepared opium is turned out annually by the Chinese opium manufactories in this city, and heavy consignments come from Vancouver and Victoria.

The location of the city makes it a most convenient point for conducting the thriving smuggling business which exists, and there are unusual facilities for getting cargoes safely across the line. New Westminster is on the north bank of the Fraser river, 15 miles above the point where it empties into the Strait of Georgia, the waterway that merges into Puget Sound. Steamers and sailing vessels conduct an extensive commerce with Victoria and Nanaimo, and it is only two hours by rail to Vancouver.

There is railway connection with Seattle and Tacoma, and small sloops carry contraband goods and Chinamen across Boundary bay and land them on the Washington coast. In fact, there is every facility for smuggling from this city, and no opportunities are lost.

The smuggling business is unusually good at this time for two reasons. First, the salmon fishing season is closing and the operatives are dispersing. There are 12 large salmon canneries in the vicinity of New Westminster, representing an invested capital of over half a million dollars. They employ 5,000 men, a large proportion of whom are Chinese. These fellows have landed from China during the spring and summer, have worked hard, saved money and are now ready to make a break for the United States. Their places will be filled by new arrivals by the time the season opens again.

The second cause which contributes to the flourishing condition of the smuggling business is the temporarily paralyzed condition of the United States customs force across the international boundary line.

A series of incidents have contributed to this temporary paralysis of the customs force. A few weeks ago one of the United States customs officers shot and killed an American deputy sheriff just across the line. The officer claims to have caught the deputy sheriff in the act of smuggling a band of Chinamen and that the deputy sheriff opened fire upon him first. The facts in the case are to be determined by the courts.

A little while later this same United States officer was surrounded in the woods by a gang of smugglers, who were on the point of killing him, but finally let him go. He immediately left the country and returned to headquarters at Port Townsend, where he asked the collector of customs for assignment to other duty. It was not an act of cowardice on his part, however, but simply self-preservation.

Another officer was sent, but in the meantime the collector of customs at Port Townsend has been removed and his place filled by another. There is a feeling that there will be wholesale removals among the officers at once, and the men on duty hereabouts are not risking their lives while they feel their tenure of office to be so uncertain.

Therefore business is good in the smuggling line.

The smugglers of the mainland, who operate between New Westminster and the small towns in Washington, are by far a more reckless, hardened and vicious class of men than those who conduct a similar business upon the waters of Puget Sound.

This is a new country. It is a haven of refuge for outlaws who have fled from the older states. Upon arriving here they naturally take to smuggling. There is good money to be made in the business, and the wild, outdoor life suits them. The smugglers live in huts in the pine forests of the interior of Washington. They have their hiding places for the opium, caches they are called, and at several points in the woods are rude shanties, erected for the sheltering of the Chinamen while they are making the overland trip.

It is a dangerous thing for one man to go among these fellows if he is suspected of being a revenue officer. The little station of Woolley, on the line of the railroad, is a rendezvous for a bold gang. They come into Woolley for whisky and supplies, and occasionally a cargo of opium is shipped from there.

There are numerous trails through the woods, broad wagon roads some of them and others mere bridle paths. Every foot of the ground is familiar to the smugglers, however, and they never get lost.

After the Chinese get across the international boundary line and a few miles into the interior they are comparatively safe. There are several hundred Chinamen at work at various places, cutting timber and doing other work, and the new comers soon mingle with them and claim to have been in the country at work for months.

It costs a Chinaman all the way from $30 to $75 to be piloted across country from New Westminster to a safe point of destination in the state of Washington. They usually go in bunches of ten or fifteen, making a profitable venture for the smuggler. The smuggler will take along 100 or 200 pounds of opium to add interest to his venture. The Chinamen will make their way openly down to within a few miles of the international boundary. Then they strike for cover of the woods and under the leadership of their smuggler guide feel their way carefully along, keeping a sharp lookout for the enemy.

Three or four days may be consumed in the journey. Then the Chinamen will suddenly emerge from the woods at a little railroad station and openly board a train for the south. They are honest woodcutters returning from a season in the woods.

It is impossible to estimate exactly the number of Chinamen who are crossing into the United States in this section. The United States officers who are sent to investigate the matter think the number is small. They base their calculations upon the rumors they hear of parties passing through, and of course they will be slow to admit that the evil which they are supposed to check exists to any glaring extent. They are simply laboring under a delusion. The parties of intruding Chinamen of whom they do not hear outnumber by far those whom they occasionally get wind of.

There is no occasion to conceal or magnify the true situation. The bald fact remains that a constant stream of Chinamen are crossing from British Columbia to the United States along the northern boundary of Washington, and the number reaches far into the hundreds in the course of a year.

MISS COATES

Has a Word to Say to the Public.

She Did Not Give Up Her Keys at the Station for the Reason that She Had Not Been Officially Notified.

Miss Coates, the recently deposed matron at the central police station, when interviewed by a Bee, had something to say about recent criticisms and her discharge. "I have now left the station," said she, "but as yet I have not given up my badge. In answer to the fuss made by some people because I did not turn over my badge and keys the day after the council confirmed the appointment of Mrs. Stebbins, I will say that I have not yet received any official notification of the appointment of my successor. All that I know about it is what I have seen in the newspapers and what I have heard down at the station.

"Up to Sunday, when I turned the office over to Mrs. Stebbins, that lady had not been sworn in, and I don't know whether she has yet or not.

"I see that Mayor Emmick states that I have already held two weeks over my time. He will find that this is false if he will look up the records, for my commission is dated October 24.

"I left the station Sunday, even though I had not received notification, for the reason that I did not want to make trouble or create any feeling between my successor and myself. I leave the office with good will toward all, and especially want to thank the public, the press, especially the Bee, and all who have helped me during my term as police matron.

"I am glad of the opportunity of making this statement, for I don't want the impression to go abroad that I am disgruntled or that I withheld my keys for the purpose of making trouble. I still retain my badge, but will give it up when I receive official notice of the appointment of my successor."

INGALLS DENOUNCED.

Kansas Republicans Read Him Out of the Party.

Topeka, Ks., Oct. 21.—For the past six weeks the republican state central committee have been making efforts to persuade John J. Ingalls to stump the state in the interest of the party, but all to no purpose. The Topeka Capital, the official state paper and republican organ, which has for years supported Senator Ingalls, prints the following:

"The question is often asked, 'What is Senator Ingalls doing for the party that honored him so many years?' The answer must be, nothing. His lecture engagements engross his time. He has put a few new blocks into the old speech of last year, eliminated the local politics and it goes as a lecture.

"We recognize the old chestnuts as reported in the daily papers. The republican party, fortunately, never depends on one man. He may be the leader today, but if death or disappointment or a disordered liver remove him from his post of honor, other color-bearers spring up to carry the banner on to victory.

"That he is not a leader to-day is more due to the supreme egotism and cold-blooded selfishness of the man than to his lack of ability. Forgetting the gallant, self-sacrificing fight of his party that went down to defeat with him, this supreme worshipper of himself turned his back upon the political friends of a quarter of a century, as well as upon those who laid aside their convictions against him and gave him a loyal support.

"Since his philosophic tumble, which the people of Kansas spurned with contempt, regardless of party, he was withdrawn from the slimy pool of politics to play the sphinx.

"No man in American history was ever so greatly honored for the single talent of sarcastic oratory.

"He has had great opportunities and has most signally failed as a leader, politician and friend. To-day in Kansas the ex-senator is neither missed nor regretted."

A PLEASANT RECEPTION

Tendered Rev. Bethards by the Congregation of the Broadway M. E. Church.

The congregation of the Broadway M. E. church tendered a very pleasant reception to the new pastor, Rev. J. H. Bethards, formerly pastor of the St. John's church.

The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. The services were opened by a song by the choir, and invocation by Rev. P. P. Pope, presiding elder of the Toledo district.

After this, Mr. B. O. Manchester, in a neat and pleasant address welcomed Rev. Bethards to the friendship, good will and heart co-operation of his new charge. This was followed by an appropriate hymn, entitled, "Welcome."

Mr. S. H. Meeks then made a little speech, in which he paid his kindest respect to the new pastor and congratulated the congregation in the success of securing such an able and worthy leader.

When Rev. Bethards arose to reply to these many kind words in his behalf, he was greeted in a most hearty manner. In a few well chosen words, he recalled with pleasure his past work and hoped the present charge would be as agreeable. In conclusion he extended an earnest desire to join hands with the congregation in the work of God, and promotion of the better interests of the church.

This was followed by a hearty all-around hand-shake.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

Wapakonetta, O., Oct. 21.—(Special)—Hon. J. K. Richards, of Ironton, republican candidate for attorney general, addressed a fair sized audience at the court house last night. He rehashed the republican doctrine to his audience.

HELP BUT DONT COERCE.

To help nature in its efforts to throw off the trammels of disease is, of course, the legitimate method of medication. This method is, unfortunately, too often diverged from and help perverted into coercion. Drastic, excessive purging is undoubtedly the most frequent form of coercion of this sort. The bowels are forced, literally wrenched into action. Of course this is accompanied with much griping pain, and succeeded by exhaustion, which leaves the organs of evacuation in a state incompatible with subsequent regularity and activity. The last state of that man or woman who uses drastic cathartics for constipation is decidedly worse than the first. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the finest laxative in existence, since it produces the needful but not abnormal action, is progressive, not abrupt in operation, and strengthens instead of weakening the organs upon which it acts. Use it for malarial, kidney, rheumatic and dyspeptic ailments.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

SUNOL TAKES THE LEAD.

A Great Mile Without a Skip in 2:08 1-4.

Maud S. is No Longer Queen of the Turf.

Reed Refused $125,000 for St. Blaize—Successful Horse Sale at Exposition Grounds in Toledo.

Stockton, Cal., Oct. 21.—Sunol beat the world's record on the Stockton track yesterday, making a mile in 2:08 1-4, beating Maud S.'s time half a second.

It was a fast mile from the start, and the mare finished strong. After warming her up in three miles jogging and rubbing her down, Marvin came out at 5 o'clock to go against the record.

At the first attempt he nodded for the word, and she ran away alone. The runner was waiting at the half for her.

She went the first quarter in 31 3-4, half in 1:04 flat, three-quarters in 1:37 and came home strong and scored in 2:08 1-4. There were six timers, and every watch was the same. The crowd went wild when the time was known.

Advertiser, by Electioneer, lowered his record from 2:22 to 2:16. L. U. Shippee's Kilrain trotted against 2:24 and made the mile in 2:22 3-4. The Palo Alto stables Lady Weill, by Electioneer, went against her record of 2:17 and made the mile in 2:16 1-2. Fred Talbot's Mount Hood went against 2:26 1-4 and made the mile in 2:22 3-4.

Marvin did not like the wind that was blowing up to noon to-day and said he would not start Sunol unless the wind died out. He was urged, however, to make the attempt, as the day was warm and the track fast, and at 4 o'clock he concluded to bring her out, as the wind had gone down.

He jogged her three miles and she seemed to feel just right. The track was rolled down for the attempt, and Sunol was driven out for the start just before 5 o'clock. A double set of timers had been kept busy during the other racing, and six watches were held on Sunol, so there could be no question about the record. The mare had been driven four miles, one rather fast, when she was found ready for the event of her life.

Tim O'Brien, of the Polo stables, was stationed at the half mile pole with a runner to accompany Sunol to the finish, but she went alone the first half mile. Marvin nodded for the word at the first attempt. President Shippee shouted, "Go," and Sunol went out to win the record that Marvin has been working for so long.

"She'll break the record in that clip," they said at timers' stand. Sunol was guided along just inside the center of the track, which had been prepared for her, and Marvin cautioned her with his long-drawn-out "Whoa" to keep her from becoming too excited.

She went to the quarter post in 31 3-4 seconds, and kept on at her wonderful stride to the half mile post in 1:04 flat. Here Tim O'Brien came into the race with the runner, and as the start was made on the second half, the excited horsemen in the stand shouted, "1:04. She'll beat it!"

The mare came around the turn faster than any man on the grounds ever saw a trotter go, and reached the three-quarter post in 1:37. It was a great race against time as she came down the stretch to the finish. Marvin knew he had the race, and he encouraged the mare, all the while calling on her, but not using the whip. Everybody shouted as she went under the wire in 2:08 1-4.

It was the gamest finish ever seen on a race track, and the mare seemed to be proud of her performance. Six timers compared their watches and they were exactly the same, 2:08 1-4. There were no watches on the ground to dispute the correctness of the record, except to make it faster by a quarter second. The crowd yelled like a lot of crazy men, and cheer after cheer went up for Sunol, for Marvin, The mob crowded around the mare and driver, and kept up cheering. Mr. Marvin had to do a lot of handshaking when he got down from his sulky, and he blushed as all sorts of congratulations were offered. Marvin was greatly pleased with the result, but he was quiet and had little to say as he went into the stall to take off his driving coat. He said to a reporter who followed him: "They will hammer at that figure a long time."

New York, Oct. 21.—The stallion St. Blaize purchased by Mr. Charles Reed at the Nursery Stud sale, was sent to the Fairview farm at Gallatin, Tenn. Mr. Reed has refused to entertain any offers of advance money on his purchase, and has refused the $125,000 which Mr. J. B. Haggin offered him.

Horse Sale in Toledo.

The sale of blooded horses at the Exposition grounds yesterday was very successful. L. H. Bean conducted the sale, assisted by Secretary Crane. Ambassador Wilkes was the first sale, Hoffman & Razer of this city being the purchasers, for $265.

The French coast stallion, Protection, jr., went next, to Judson Palmer, of Findlay, for $350. Rally Wilkes was the next. Naturally considerable interest centered in the sale of this stallion as his performances in the past have been wonderful. He was captured by Thad Rowland of Oberlin, who paid for his new acquisition $2,525. Pattie Clay, dark gray mare, went to Demuth Bros., of Whitehouse, for $225. Mother Walker, sorrel mare, was purchased by Walter B. Scott of this city for $100. Forest Belle, bay mare, to Demuth & Sons, Whitehouse, for $125; bay filly, foaled by Newton's Alice Wilkes, to Alex Foster of this city, for $295; bay filly, foaled by Den Melix, to Charles Russell of East Toledo, for $110; Day Dawn, black mare, to Dr. O. J. Carter, Toledo, for $85; black filly, foaled 1891, to Walter B. Scott, for $50; bay colt, foaled 1890, to Dr. E. Emery, Toledo, for $50; Sweet Clover, brown filly, to Harry D. Hobart, Hobart, O., for $135; Twilight, black mare, to H. S. Tracy of Toledo; black filly to Demuth & Sons, Whitehouse, for $150; Egertie, to Branni Bros., Bowling Green, for $455; bay mare, by Winfield Boy, to D. L. Beebe, Lyons, O., for 280; bay colt, by same, to C. B. Greene, Toledo, for $75; Jessie, bay mare, to W. J. Bailey, Millbury, for $90; dark gray stud colt to August Rerhing, East Toledo, for $85; black filly to Joel Potter, East Toledo, for $180; black filly to Fred Feldt, Toledo, for $295; bay filly to George W. Clay, Toledo, for $250; gray colt to Dr. O. J. Carter, Toledo, for $150; Canada Belle, black mare, to John B. Davis, Toledo, for $300; chestnut filly to Revell and Feldt for $130; Jennie Wilkes, bay filly, to Charles Russell for $275; Lady Aldrich, bay mare, to W. B. Scott for $90; Lady Jane, gray mare, to C. B. Greene, for $80; Parkwood Belle, red roan mare, C. A. Harley for $100; roan filly to C. A. Harley for $160; black colt to A. P. Hobart for $150; Senator Brice, bay colt, to John Steinman, Toledo, for $295; Kitty Redbuck, chestnut mare, to John Steinman for $300.

The administrator's sale of the trotting stock of the James Dority estate opened with the disposal of Nightingale, the speedy black mare. She was purchased by Hardy & Ouden for $3,500; Corrinne, sorrel filly, was sold to Ravell & Feldt for $295; Mabel, black mare, to George H. Ketcham for $250; bay weanling filly, to C. M. Rowe, of Erie, Mich., for $200; Loreine, to same for $300; Flight, bay mare and colt, to Cliff Geddes, Adrian, Mich., for $300; Darkness, black mare, to Dr. W. W. Jones, $190; Billy F., brown gelding, to Murray Broun, Bowling Green, for $300.

The sale netted over $13,000, the average price paid being about $345.

Rally Wilkes will be taken to Cleveland by Mr. Thad Rowland, where he will be put in the hands of Mr. Gus Wilson for the next year, and will go down the big line the following year in the 2:20 class.

A DARING TRIP.

A Drunken Farmer Rides his Horse Up-Stairs.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 21.—The story of a remarkable feat of horsemanship performed in this city Saturday came out to-day. The rider was Henry Douglass, a farmer living near Lake View, Miss., and he rode his horse up a steep flight of stairs to the second story of M. C. Pearce & Co.'s cotton office on Front street.

The first the clerks in the cotton-room knew of the circus act was when Douglass entered into the apartment, very drunk, and gave them the time of day. They did not respond, but got out as quickly as possible, as Douglass had a pistol and they knew him to be bad even when not under the influence of liquor.

Then Mr. Pearce and City Commissioner Martin Kelly went up and interviewed Douglass, who was riding around the cotton-room and trying to make his steed mount the sample tables.

They persuaded him to dismount for the purpose of descending with them and taking a drink, and Mr. Pearce called his negro and told him to lead the horse downstairs. "D—n you," said the owner of the horse to the negro, "if you touch that horse I'll kill you. I have already killed four men and you're a fine subject for the fifth."

The porter declined to undertake the contract and finally Mr. Pearce himself led the animal down without mishap, Commissioner Kelly hanging on to the tail to steady the procession. As soon as Dougless reached he street he was arrested by a policeman and later was lodged in the jail for carrying a pistol.

To make his feat more astonishing, the horse he rode is rather wild than otherwise. Douglass is as handy with his gun as he claims to be. Several years since he killed Oscar Woodridge, the man who killed Frank Waite, a prominent coal dealer and republican in this city fifteen years ago.

NO MAN BUT MILLS

Should Be Speaker of the Next House.

Congressman Tom Johnson Has the Texan's Boom in Good Shape at This Early Date.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Representative Johnson, of Cleveland, O., who has been here for a few days making arrangements for the winter, has returned home. When asked by your correspondent if he agreed with the views entertained by Representative Hemphill on the speakership contest, he said:

"I do not. I think he will have to readjust his figures. In my judgment, M. Mills will get the votes of four-fifths of the new members, and, as you know, they will be a host in the next democratic caucus. The good work he has just completed in Ohio will give him the votes of almost our entire delegation.

'All through the West, Northwest, Pennsylvania and in New England the sentiment is strongly for him, and it should be so when we remember that Mr. Mills was the leader of the gallant fight made in and out of congress aginst the protectionists, which resulted in our enormous democratic majority last fall.

"His honesty, ability and long service in the anti-protection struggle put him of necessity in the first place, now that we have carried one of the strongholds of protection. To elect anyone else at this time would seem to be losing ground and, as Bellamy puts it, "looking backward," unless he has done something wrong, failed or disappointed us in some way, which even those opposed to him do not claim.

"We of the West regard his election not so much from a personal point of view, but as a logical result of our position it is not only the man, it is the idea he represents that makes him our candidate. His election is regarded by the Northern members with whom I have talked as a party necessity in order that we may signalize our victory and retain the hold that we seem to have upon the North.

"Men opposed to him come mainly from those sections where the protective tariff is considered a very 'naughty scheme' except on rice, oranges, coal, and iron ore and on these a little of this protection is an exceedingly good thing.

"Now if this fight on Mr. Mills is as I think it, a division in our party between men who are unalterably opposed to a protective tariff in any form and those who want some protection for their pet industries, the sooner it is generally known the better. The result of such a division will inevitably elect Mr. Mills. No matter what the views of any particular man may be the democratic party to-day stands in opposition to the protective idea. Mr. Mills is leader of this opposition and will, unless all signs fail, be the next speaker of the house."

PROHIBITION ON THE WANE.

Upper Sandusky, Oct. 21.—Eight prohibitionists of this district, the thirty-first, composed of the counties of Crawford, Wyandot and Seneca, met here and nominated Frank S. Lyon of Seneca for senator. Tom Hopley of Bucyrus wanted Robert McCammon, the people's nominee, indorsed, but the others wanted an out and out prohibitionist.

THE WHITELY REAPER WORKS.

Springfield, Oct. 21.—A motion has been allowed in court discharging George H. Grey, receiver of the William N. Whitely Reaper company. It is understood that arrangements have been made with the creditors by which the company will soon be on its feet again. William N. Whitely has obtained backing from Boston capitalists and will buy a portion of his big works back at the receiver's sale next Tuesday.

HOEY DEFENDS HIMSELF.

He Did Nothing Wrong in His Transactions.

He Did Not Own a Dollar of the Stock About Which There Has Been So Much Talk.

New York, Oct. 21.—The World this morning prints an interview with John Hoey, ex-president of the Adams Express company, in which he gives his side of the famous Sherbourne deal, the alleged reason for his dismissal from the company.

Mr. Hoey said: "I bought some stock in the Massachusetts express companies in conjunction with Sherbourne and Spooner. Taft was the man who held it and transferred it. The first batch we bought was sold to Wm. B. Dinsmore, then president of the Adams Express company.

"Mr. Dinsmore held that stock for two years and then turned it over to the Adams. In the meantime we had secured an option on the rest of the stock and the Adams Express company, through Mr. Dinsmore, decided that the company should own it all.

"My only sin was voting as a trustee to buy that stock for the company. But, mind you, I did not own a dollar of it. Wm. B. Dinsmore owned it all. I did not sell them anything I owned. They try to make out that I engineered a deal by which Sherbourne, Spooner, Taft and myself sold to the company for $850,000 stock that was worth only $150,000.

"That is false. The stock had been purchased by President Dinsmore and by him transferred to the company. It had appreciated in value largely after Mr. Dinsmore bought it, but it seems a good time now to jump on me and poor Spooner."

Mr. Hoey added that he had not owned any stock in the Adams Express company for 16 years, but that was no reason why he should not faithfully look after its interests.

Wm. B. Dinsmore, son of the late President Dinsmore, confirmed Mr. Hoey's statement that his father had owned the first batch of Massachusetts express stock which he transferred to the Adams Express company.

Some time later when his father was on his death bed, he heard that the United States Express company was after the remainder of the stock and it was on his advice that the Adams Express company bought the rest of the stock that had been acquired by Messrs. Hoey, Spooner and Sherbourne.

ARE NOT IN POLITICS.

A Manifesto Issued by the Ohio Alliance.

The Organization is for Educational Purposes.

An Interesting Document Issued by the Officers of the Association to Correct a Wrong Impression.

Galion, O., Oct. 21.—(Special)—Inasmuch as the impression has gone out that the farmers' alliance has gone into politics and is identified as being one and the same with the people's party, we, the officers of the alliance deem it prudent to issue the following manifesto:

1st. The alliance dares not become a political party, from the fact that we have been incorporated by the state of Ohio with the following declaration of principles set forth as a part of the articles of incorporation, namely, "To strive to secure the establishment of right and justice to ourselves and our posterity. To labor for the education of the agricultural classes in the science of economical government in a strictly non-partisan spirit. To indorse the motto: 'In things essential, unity; in all things, charity.'

"To secure purity of the elective franchise, and to induce all voters to intelligently exercise it for the enactment and execution of laws which will express the most advanced public sentiment upon all questions involving the interests of laborers and farmers. To develop a better state, mentally, morally, socially and financially.

"To constantly strive to secure entire harmony and good will among all mankind, and brotherly love among ourselves.

"To suppress personal local, sectional and national prejudices; all unhealthful rivalry, and all selfish ambition.

Should the officers of the state alliance step aside from these purposes, our authority to act as an order could be revoked, and the organization disbanded by authority of the state.

2. This organization of purposes is far more noble than a party organization, for it looks to the education of the young and the old in both the rudimentary and advanced principles of our vocation and the financial policy of the government.

3. As alliance officers we propose to be loyal to the principles set forth in our declaration, and allow every member the privilege of an American citizen to vote as he pleases, and do not propose to control or be controlled by any party.

The proper attitude of the alliance politically is to be prepared to criticise or admire the action of any of the parties; and, if a new party should go into power, to be just as free to discuss its merits and demerits in our meetings as we are now doing with those in power. We have certain principles that we wish to see incorporated into the laws of the land, and we are willing for our people to take whatever course they think the most wise to secure the establishment of these principles.

TIM AND HIS MOTHER.

How Mrs. Hopkins Grew to Hate Her Son.

The Dislike Antedated Her Acquaintance with Searles.

The Foster Son Tried to Ride Rough-Shod Over the Old Lady and She Immediately Proceeded to Get Even with Him.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 21.—The Hopkins-Searles will case came up again in the local court yesterday, and the opinion of leading lawyers who know a great deal about Tim Hopkins' fight for his foster mother's millions, is that a compromise will be reached. Mr. Searles has said this much himself:

"I have offered Mr. Hopkins about $3,000,000 to withdraw his suit, and would pay him that sum from the estate."

Late developments in this famous case all go to show that Mrs. Hopkins-Searles' dislike for Timothy antedated her acquaintance with Mrs. Searles. Tim Early began to feel his oats and when he became her adopted son after the death of Mark Hopkins, he began to put his heel upon his foster mother whenever he could.

He was in the saddle and meant to ride rough shod over her possessions. An instance of this attempt to push Mrs. Hopkins into the background is furnished by Tim's honeymoon. After marrying a wife much against the old lady's will, he took her out to the San Francisco mansion.

At the first dinner Timothy led the way into the dining-room with his bride and seated her in the chair of Mrs. Hopkins at the head of the table—a direct insult.

The older lady made no signs that she recognized it as such, but with perfect composure and tact stepped along to her place and smiling sweetly, said to the bride: "I will thank you for my seat." She got it, much to the discomfiture and wrath of Timothy, but it was another cross on her heart, and it told her that if she let Timothy have his way she would be put wholly in the second place in her home.

Timothy's utter indifference to the hospitality and unbounded generosity of the old lady pierced her soul, and later on she purchased a separate home for him and his bride.

THE PUBLIC IS INTERESTED.

Raum Cannot Understand the Many Rumors About Him.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Commissioner Raum of the pension bureau says he has not tendered his resignation to the president with the understanding that it shall be announced after the November elections. He said the animus behind the fortnightly attacks upon him were easily understood. "For myself," said Mr. Raum, "I need only say that I enjoy the confidence of the president and the secretary of the interior, and there is a great deal at the pension office still for me to do. If I should decide to resign my resignation will be announced in due time, and until it is so announced I see no reason why the public should worry about it."

BOYD VERSUS THAYER.

The Case Advanced on the Docket.

It Will Come Up for Argument the First Week in December—Other Important Matters.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The United States supreme court has advanced the hearing of the case of Boyd versus Thayer, arising out of a contest over Nebraska governorship, and assigned it for argument on the first Monday in December after the cases already assigned for that day.

The previously assigned cases are those of the two New York murderers, under sentence of death by electrocution, and the Chicago anarchist cases.

The court denied the application for a postponement of the hearing of the suit brought here from California to determine whether title to land in California below highwater mark was originally vested in the United States or the state of California.

Presiding Justice Field said that the case was merely a suit over a land patent, that no important constitutional question was involved and that it did not need a full bench for its trial. The case came up for argument to-day.

Before and After

THE ART OF FENCING.

A Splendid Exercise and Easily Acquired.

Four Cardinal Points—Some of the First Combinations and Simple Tricks Necessary for the Beginner to Know.

Fencing develops and strengthens muscles that are hard to reach by any other excercise. It enlarges the chest, strengthens the lungs and puts pulmony diseases to flight. It develops keenness of sight. It cultivates decision of mind. It produces an easy, graceful carriage of the body. Can you learn to fence? Oh, you're interested, are you? Certainly you can learn the art. Your progress, however, will depend upon the number of minutes you give to your practice each day.

Buy a fair set of foils, say $2, and two wire masks; put the latter at $2 more, and there you are. Insist on buying perfectly plain foils and masks, then if you snap a blade 50 cents will replace it.

Wear a thick woollen shirt underneath an ordinary sack coat, because these lessons are to be on an economical basis, and this rig will protect you quite as well as a $4 plastron, and, if you are very particular about your hands an old glove will be just as serviceable as a fancy gauntlet.

Just one more word and then we will get to work, and that is about shoes. As good a fencing shoe as even the greatest fencer can want is the rubber soled, heelless, lacrosse shoe, price 75 cents. So now our outfit stands at $4.75, and when I am through with you I shall ask you how you could have invested that amount to any better advantage.

Lesson No. 1.

Take the foil in your right hand, holding it in the position of carrying arms; head up, heels together, left hand at the side. Now make a half face to the left, bringing the right foot to the hollow of the left, and look at me across your right shoulder. Step forward about 14 inches, with the right foot, keeping the left in the same position; bring the left hand up over the head, so that it forms a curve from your left shoulder and the hand is about four inches above your head. Now bend your right arm, hand opposite right shoulder, palm up, elbow resting against side and point of foil at the height of your eye.

You are now in the base position. "On Guard," as it is called. Bend both knees slightly, as the lower you can sink your body the more perfect will be your guard, since you expose less of your body for a target to the opposing foil.

Now, fencing is divided into two sections—lunging or thrusting out to hit your opponent, and guarding against attack from his point. As the lunge is the hardest to acquire let us begin with that at once.

Straighten the right arm, palm up and on a level with your chin, which will bring the point of the foil a little lower. Now straighten both legs, throwing your weight on the right and leaning as far forward as possible without moving your feet. At the same time straighten the left arm so that it points up from the shoulder.

Lesson No. 2.

Now step forward with your right foot about 14 inches, holding right hand and foil in the same position as before, but bringing the left hand forcibly to your side and keep your left leg straight and firm. The left arm as it is brought down sends you forward, adding to the force and accuracy of your lunge; this arm also aids you in the recover which naturally follows every lunge.

To recover the guard position press with the right foot and step back to the base position, bringing the left arm back to its curved position above the head. The right arm comes back to its old position against the side as your body swings back to guard.

That is your first lesson. Practice it before a mirror until you can execute the lunge and recover in one following movement, and by that time your thighs, right arm and chest muscles will cry aloud for rest.

Four Cardinal Points.

As you stand facing your opponent or your own reflection in the mirror you will notice that there are four points at which you may direct your thrust. These are called the four cardinal points, and are as follows: The left breast, the right breast, the left and right sides of the abdomen. In the same way your opponent has these same four points upon your body, which he may attack at will, and which you must guard against his point. To lunge at these four points and to protect them against all thrusts and combination thrusts constitutes the whole art of fencing.

Now you are on guard, we will say, knees bent, right arm close to right side, all your weight thrown upon the left leg, and your right shoulder toward your opponent, so that he may not have the full front of your breast to aim at.

Your opponent lunges at your breast, or in carte, as this point is called. What must you do to protect yourself?

As his blade glides across yours turn your wrist so that the thumb is uppermost and bend the hand toward the advancing blade. This simple movement will save you from any thrust in carte, for it turns the advancing blade away from your breast, no matter with what force your opponent lunges.

Now for the right breast or tierce.

Here you must be quick of hand and eye if you would save a point. Turn your wrist clear around until the back of your hand is uppermost, and at the same time bring your hand close in to your right shoulder, the foil pointing straight up.

What has all this done?

I will tell you. Your opponent, finding that he cannot touch you in carte, drops his point under your blade and lunges for tierce. The turn of your wrist deflects his point from your right breast, and when you draw your hand close to your shoulder you virtually steer his point clear, so that it passes by you.

These are the two principal guards, and by that I mean they are the most used in fencing bout. Many experts indeed rarely lunge at any other point, relying almost entirely upon their quickness to hit a man in either carte or tierce.

Tricks to be Learned.

There are many tricks connected with simple carte and tierce thrusts.

First, by reason of its simplicity, comes "the beat." You are engaged with your opponent in carte, let us say, and have tried repeatedly to touch him on that side of the blade; but, try as hard as you may, you fail.

Then you resort to "the beat."

That is, you beat his guard away from carte, throwing it out of line by a sharp throw of your wrist, and lunge at his exposed carte point. Now, it is simply a question which is the quicker of you two. You have the advantage, however, since his blade must be brought back to the carte guard, while your point is traveling straight for his exposed breast. If, on the other hand, your opponent tries this same beat on your blade don't lose your head, but make the carte guard as quickly as possible.

The double disengagement is a favorite trick with old fencers.

The double coupe is simply a variation of this artifice, to still more deceive your opponent's eye. You cut over his blade to tierce, and, as he makes the tierce guard, thereby exposing carte, you cut back to carte again and lunge at his exposed breast. If he tries the same tricks upon you only quickness will save you from a hit.

Last of all comes the combinations of these movements. For example, disengage from carte to tierce, then cut over the opposing blade and lunge in carte, or coupe to tierce, disengage to carte and lunge in carte. You see the combinations are almost endless. There is one thing to be borne in mind, however, while learning these movements, and that is this—a straight lunge will often get home while the opposing blade is executing coupes and disengagements. Bear this fact in mind, and if you are opposed to a man who delights in many combinations lunge at him straight and hard and you often score your point. The simple coups and disengagements are all right, but beware how you string them out, for every time you move your hand from the guard position you lay yourself open to a tack.

Above all things watch your opponent's eye, not his point, and you will soon learn to read there what he intends to do. When you have practiced steadily for a month you will feel like a new man; your chest will have gained an inch in circumference, your eye clear and bright, your step springy, and better than all the rest your temper and general health vastly improved. By the time you have mastered the fifth lesson of this series you will understand the difference between stage fencing and the real article. Nay, more, you will smile satirically when you see a duel to the death enacted upon the boards, and exclaim with us old fencers, "Not a bit like it."—N. Y. Herald.

FARM AND GARDEN.

October on the Farm.

The Philadelphia Record has gleaned, under the above head, the following items of interest:

Take up your geraniums, as they are very tender and are liable to be injured on any cold night. Coleus, cannas and other ornamental plants quickly show the effects of a light frost. Coleus should now be potted. Cannas should be cleared off as soon as they wilt, and the tubers stored away in a dry place. The same precaution should be observed with dahlias.

Raspberries cannot be manured too heavily. Nothing is so beneficial to them as a heavy coating of manure on the ground around them in winter. It requires but a short row of raspberries for a small family, and the size of the berries largely depends on the fertility of the soil and the manure given.

If the ground is damp open a furrow between the strawberry rows, in order to keep the plants dry in winter. The strawberry is a hardy plant, and delights in plenty of moisture when growing, but it is easily injured when caked with ice. Drainage is a protection to the plants during wet and cold weather.

Dairymen should try a deep pit, filled in with absorbents, in place of the gutter behind the cows. Any method that adds to cleanliness should be adopted.

Allow sweet potatoes to dry in the shade before storing them. It is not necessary to wash roots, but they should be dry and free from dirt as much as possible. An even temperature should be secured, in order to avoid suddenly freezing and thawing. Sweet potatoes should never be exposed to cold, as they are easily injured. They are best preserved in some building in which a fire can be made during severe weather.

New varieties of small fruits come to the surface every spring, are loudly extolled and go out of sight. The "best" strawberry has been discovered often. Farmers should always test new varieties with a few plants only. Much depends on soil and locality. A variety that is the best in one section may be worthless in another. Old and tried varieties should never be discarded hurriedly. Improvement is being made at all times, and with all kinds of fruits, but when the farmer is brought into contact with so many varieties, each claimed as the "best," he will be unable to select from them. All varieties that do not stand a test are simply weeds in the way of others.

For horses timothy hay is preferred, but clover is better for cows. Cows will give more milk from clover and thrive better than from any other hay; but, in order to keep them in full flow of milk, they should have a variety, and if ensilage can be provided, it will be found an excellent addition to the ration.

When storing the farm implements away brush them over with kerosene. It is excellent for preventing rust and for protecting against dampness. Many implements are placed where they become covered with dust, which interferes with their movements in the spring. All implements should be kept clean.

It is said that hog cholera destroys 10,000,000 hogs in this country every year. It is possible that all diseases are termed hog cholera. The hog is fed on food that alone is sufficient to kill it, and it is not surprising that the loss is so large. A swill barrel placed in the sun, foul in odor, alive with parasites, insects and disease germs, is made the receptacle of the food of hogs, which is more or less poisonous by chemical action. When clean and wholesome food only is given the hogs there will be fewer complaints of the so-called hog cholera.

All the stock should go into winter quarters in good condition. It is cheaper to keep a healthy animal in condition than to attempt to put flesh on one that is not thrifty.

The warmth of the body of an animal in the winter season is produced from the food. The more warmth created the more food necessary. The more the animal is protected from the cold the less warmth to be provided. To save food, therefore, the stock should be provided with good dry quarters, the most important point being to guard against draughts of air from cracks or crevices.

A hedge is ornamental, but the hedge should not be planted very close to plots of small fruits or gardens. It not only occupies quite a space of ground when well grown, but the roots from a vigorous hedge will feed on the soil for many feet on either side, thereby depriving the vines or vegetables of nourishment.

It is better to plow under all green matter before the frost than to allow it to die and dry. Green manure decomposes easily, but plants that have become dry sometimes remain in the ground a long time before decomposing. It is also much better to plow in the fall if the land is heavy, in order to allow the frost to assist in pulverizing the soil.

In some sections, where apples are difficult to keep in a cellar, the best method adopted, after repeated experiments, is to pack the apples in boxes and bury the boxes in the ground. Only perfect apples, fully ripe and hand picked from the tree, will answer. Fallen apples or apples that are in the least degree injured or diseased, should be excluded, as they will injure those that are sound. The apples should not be picked until they have remained on the trees as long as possible.

Calf Feeding Experiment.

1. A ration of skim milk and ground flax seed compares favorably with a new milk ration for young calves.

2. The larger gain came from the whole milk, but a part of it was due partly to the individuality of the calves and good results and a thrifty growth were made on skim milk and ground flax seed.

3. The skim milk calves were interrupted less in their growth by weaning than the whole milk calves.

4. A saving in value of buter fat alone of $1.11 per month on each calf was effected by substituting the ground flax seed.

5. The cost of producing a pound of gain (estimating new milk at eighty-seven and a half cents per hundred pounds and skim milk at fifteen cents per hundred pounds, grain on cent per pound, hay five dollars per ton, and flax seed meal three and a half cents per pound) was 7.6 cents for the fresh milk ration and 5 cents for the skim milk ration.—Iowa Experiment Station.

Growing Potatoes.

Anybody can grow potatoes, and yet but few are grown with any effort to produce a really fine tuber. It is a science, but not difficult. It requires a year to get ready and then the same patch is good for any length of time, potato bugs and white grubs to the contrary notwithstanding. The soil must be sandy or made so by the addition of coal ashes to make it loose, then work in an equal bulk (equal to the bulk of the soil itself) one-half humus. If you have no humus you must make it. The soil must be worked perfectly fine and evenly mixed with the manure at least a foot deep. If the manure is not fine, lumps will harbor grubs or grow crooked tubers. So will hard lumps of soil, if no bigger than a chestnut. Do all this in the fall of the year. Next dissolve a box of lye (as sold for soap making) in half a barrel of water. Sprinkle this through a watering pot to soak the ground well; let it stand over winter, and in the spring plant cabbage on it. When cabbages are off, wet down again with the lye water; add three inches deep of more humus, and cultivate this in well. The humus will invite grubs and wire worms in, the lye will invite them out. In the following spring plant potatoes. Work them well, and every fall add more humus and more lye. Keep the soil loose and fine, use good seed cut to two eyes, plant in two-foot rows one foot apart and dig as soon as the tops are decidedly dead.—Germantown Telegraph.

Bees Work at Night.

Bees work at night in the hive, and build comb as perfectly as if an electric light had shone there all the time. Many times we have been asked why they prefer the darkness, but there are good reasons for doing so. All know that honey is liquid without any solid sugar in it. But, after standing, it gradually assumes a crystalline appearance; in other words, it granulates, and ultimately will become a solid mass. Some have stated that this change is due to the same agent which alters the molecular arrangement of the iodine of silver on the excited collodian plate, and determines the formation of camphor and iodine crystals in a bottle.

We are informed that Prof. Schiber inclosed honey in well-corked flasks, some of which he kept in perfect darkness, while the others were exposed to the light. The result has been that the portion exposed to the light soon crystalizes, while that kept in the dark remains unchanged. Hence we see why the bees are so careful to obscure the glass windows which are sometimes placed in their hives. The existence of the young depends on the liquidity of the saccharine food presented to them, and if light were allowed access to this in all probability it would prove fatal to the inmates of the hive.—American Bee Journal.

Road Making.

Good roads increase the value of live stock, land and living generally. If a horse can do one-third more work on a good road, and be in good working condition one-third longer than he can on a bad road, then his value is increased one-third. This is a low estimate, and it would be more fair to call it doubled.

In certain localities where roads have been improved values of land have so advanced, and crops are marketed so much easier, that poor farmers who hardly make both ends meet are prosperous, and farms that would bring nothing can now command prices that seem fabulous.

It is hard to put a value on the social condition. It is generally supposed that the city furnishes the keenest intellects; that the contact of human beings brings out the best endeavors. Life in the country is intellectual stagnation, unless it is in the case of some more than ordinarily brilliant mind which no locality can hinder. But with good roads minds would be brightened up, and the average intellect with the dust brushed off it would be a pleasant possession.—Stockman.

A Milk Substitute for Calves.

A Nebraska subscriber asks for a good substitute for milk to feed occasionally to a calf six weeks old. Hay tea, oat meal gruel, flax seed meal or oil cake gruel are all good. Feed them at the temperature of new milk. If you have a little milk to spare add that as "trimmings."

We never tried feeding either of the substitutes "occasionally" when feeding milk regularly, and do not know as a calf would take to them freely for a single meal. We have raised some fine calves that had but little milk, but they were brought to a full feed of hay tea very gradually—first a pint only being added to their feed of milk, then a quart, and so on until the feed was half tea and half milk, then the tea was the main stay. If we had any milk it was added, if not the tea was drank "clear." Oil cake gruel was fed the same way.

We have fed the tea alone, the gruel alone, and a gruel in which the liquid was hay tea.

The gruel is best made by scalding the "meal" some hours before the gruel is needed with enough water to make a stiff mush, then taking enough of this and diluting it with the warm water when ready to use. Feeding at the right temperature has much to do with the relish with which it is drank, and, we think, much with the results obtained.—Farm, Field and Stockman.

Ensilage on the Farm.

When ensilage began to receive attention many scientific experimenters at once attacked it, claiming that it was almost worthless, and that it did not pay for the labor bestowed upon it. The objections then made were correct, for the ensilage of that day was very different from that of the present time. There were, however, many strong advocates of ensilage, who claimed for it many advantages that its opponents would not admit. The fact was that each party formed his opinion of ensilage from his own standpoint, and it was only after farmers understood how to grow corn for ensilage was there unanimity, as it is now safe to assert that no one is at present opposed to ensilage as cattle feed.

The use of corn for ensilage gives American farmers a great advantage, as it produces a larger amount of food and at less cost than with any other material. The difficulty with those who did not favor ensilage was that they supposed it should be composed of very young fodder, full of water and in a green condition. Those who found it valuable were those who allowed the corn to grow to maturity, cutting it just as the ears began to glaze, by so doing allowing the crop to reach that stage in which it has derived from the soil as much nourishment as possible, and also arresting in the stalk the elements that were on their way to complete the seeds. The very young corn, on the contrary, was composed so largely of water as to render it of but little value, and when cut at such an early stage of growth did not fulfill the expectations of those who relied upon it as an important adjunct to dairying.

As an acre of corn for ensilage produces an enormous amount of succulent food, and at the lowest possible cost, it will be found valuable in many ways. It is not best to feed it exclusively, for animals thrive better on a variety, but it affords succulent food in winter of a very nourishing character, and thereby not only promotes digestion and thrift, but increases the flow of milk and lessens the amount of hay and grain required. The dairyman who has a silo filled with ensilage can feed his stock at less cost, will secure a larger product and can sell at a lower price, with greater profit than can the farmer who feeds on dry food. That ensilage is now regarded as a staple food is shown not only by its advocates, but also by the fact that all of its enemies have vanished from sight, and it is now unopposed.—Philadelphia Record.

A Guarantee

The cheapest furnace man in the world will give you a guarantee to heat your house. But what satisfaction do you get when the weather is at zero, or 10 below, and the furnace does not heat your house? The change cannot be made then, and you must suffer until the weather will permit to make the change. Is it not best to give the job to some one whose reputation is a guarantee that your house will be heated during the coldest weather?

THE GRAND OLD MAN.

An Americanized Briton who has often heard the grand old man speak in the house of commons says: "Gladstone comes always dressed in an evening suit, with a flower in his button-hole, wearing a neat little black tie. This tie travels around his collar with every sentence, as if desirous of emphasizing the glowing periods with which the speech bristles. By the time he has ended, the tie is usually back in its proper position. The old man never speaks now without a little bottle on the dispatch box before him. The bottle contains a kind of flip specially prepared for him by Mrs. Gladstone, and whenever the voice gets slightly husky a draught gives it all its clearness and deep intonation again, so that when he closes his address the echo is like that of a mighty bell resounding through the house."

BEER AND UMBRELLAS.

Apia, the capital of the Samoan islands, is famous for its consumption of beer and umbrellas. It is no unusual thing to see a nearly naked native walking hatless through the streets with a silk umbrella spread over his head. The use of the umbrella is to protect the carefully oiled and dressed native head from the effects of the sun's rays. Hairdressing is the sole toilet operation with the Samoans, and upon this they bestow a vast amount of time and ingenuity. An American about to depart from Apia asked what he should present to the wife of a chief who had entertained him. He was assured that nothing would please the lady better than an umbrella. With some misgivings as to the stock of umbrellas likely to be carried by the merchants of Apia he visited a shop, and was astonished to find a large collection of the best European umbrellas. He learned that they sold well at good prices, and that the natives were extremely exacting as to the quality of that particular article. As for the lady, she was delighted with the American's gift.

The process of whitening sugar was never known until a hen walked through a clay puddle and then strayed into the sugar house. Her tracks were, of course, left in the piles of sugar, and when it was noticed that the spots where she had stepped were whiter than the rest, the process of bleaching sugar with clay was adopted.

THE RED PLANET.

Speculation About the "Canals" of Mars and Their Builders.

People who can obtain the privilege of looking at Mars through the Lick telescope should not neglect the opportunity, says the San Francisco Call. Several years have elapsed since that remarkable planet could be seen to such advantage as at present, and it will be three years before we have an equal chance again. It has certainly never been examined before through a telescope of such power as the monster refractor on Mount Hamilton.

It may be interesting to lovers of astronomy to know that the eminent French astronomer, M. Perrotin, is engaged in a minute study of Mars, and that his discoveries confirm those of M. Schiaparilli in every particular. It seems actually true that the longitudinal stripes which circle round the planet are bodies of water, and must, according to all laws of probability, be artificial. No one ever saw or conceived a system of parelled rivers from 1,000 to 2,000 miles long and straight as a plumb line. Everything is possible, of course, but such straight rivers it is impossible to reconcile with the principles of cosmogony as we understand them. On this planet, at all events, nature abhors a straight line, and by analogy it should do so in Mars.

Yet if these bodies of water are canals, as Schiaparilli believed and Perrotin seems hardly to doubt, what monstrous works they must be! They are from 50 to 80 miles wide. Fancy the labor of digging such a canal, the time it must have taken and the number of workmen it must have employed. The pyramids of Egypt are trifling in comparison. The Suez Canal is 197 feet wide at the surface, and the Nicaragua canal is to be 150 feet; the Martian canals are 2,800 times wider. Our canals on this one-horse globe are considered long when they reach 100 miles in length. The Panama canal will be less than 60 miles long. The canals of Mars reach a length of 2,000 miles—say as far as from here to Omaha. What a traffic there must be to support such enterprises. On the waterways of China travellers describe the incessant ebb and flow of multitudinous crowds, but to require canals of such dimensions as we have described, the movement of traffic in Mars must be far more prodigious. In fact, they imply a population which almost staggers belief; considering that the volume of the planet is only one-sixth that of the earth, the diameter being 4,400 miles as against 8,000 miles, they warrant the wildest conjectures as to the density with which they may be peopled.

What manner of man lives in Mars, if there be men there, has always been a favorite topic of speculation. The law of gravitation tells us that he may be 14 feet high; not such a son of Anak as the inhabitant of the asteroids, but still one who would regard the Belgian giants as a remarkable dwarf. Possibly the enormous public works on Mars may be explained on the theory that these tall fellows can work in proportion to their stature—that one citizen of Mars can shovel as much dirt as two and a half denizens of this world.

Whether the grass of Mars is red, as the old astronomers averred, modern telescopes have failed to decide. It is very difficult to determine colors when an object lens collects 30,000 times as much light as normally enters the human eye. But the speculative astronomer is safe in asserting his belief that Martian cabbages are of the color of our beet roots, as no one can disprove the assertion.

NEW YORK CENTRAL'S NEW TRAIN.

On Monday, Oct. 26, the New York Central & Hudson River railroad will place in service its new train, the "Empire State Express," which will be the fastest regular passenger train in the world.

It will leave Grand Central station at 9 a. m., every day except Sunday, and arrive in Buffalo at 5:40 p. m., stopping at Albany, Utica, Syracuse and Rochester. The running time will be 52 1-3 miles per hour.

The famous "Flying Scotchman" of the London & Northwestern and Caledonia railways makes 51.6 miles per hour between London and Edinburg; the running time of the Royal Blue train of the Central railroad of New Jersey, Philadelphia & Reading and B. & O. between New York and Washington is 51.9 miles per hour, but the New York Central, with its "Empire State Express" will eclipse all previous efforts at fast time for a long distance run for regular trains.

OUR MARY'S DEUS EX MACHINA.

An unrehearsed scene once occurred in the Edinburgh Lyceum theater, while Miss Mary Anderson (now Mrs. de Navarro) was playing the part of Galatea in Gilbert's well known play.

In the last act of the play, when Galatea appeals to the gods to help her in effecting a reconciliation between Pygmalion and Cynisca, she assumes a suppliant attitude, and, with upturned face and outstretched arms, exclaims: "The gods will help me!" whereupon the occupants of the gallery at once responded to appeal with a vigorous and unanimous "We will!" which brought down the house and stopped the play for a time.

TROUBLE IN THE CHURCH.

The Evangelical Lutheran Conference Adopt Resolutions.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—The Evangelical Lutheran conference has taken important action looking to the locking out of the preachers of the seceding party. The action is embraced in the following resolution, which was adopted:

Whereas, The pulpits of a number of our churches are at present occupied by certain ministers appointed by irregular assemblies calling themselves annual conferences of our church, which assemblies have acted in opposition to the discipline and lawful authorities of the Evangelical association as has already been determined by this annual conference; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the presiding elders of the church are hereby directed to see that in their respective districts no persons representing either directly or indirectly the aforesaid irregular and unlawful assemblies shall be allowed to perform any official action in any of the churches, and that these directions shall be communicated by the presiding elder to the preacher in charge, who shall see to their enforcement.

Schuylkill seminary, located at Fredericksburg, Pa., and Central Pennsylvania college, located at New Berlin, Pa., are among the church properties of the Evangelical association in the hands of the seceders' conference, and it recommended that such measures be adopted by the proper authorities as may be necessary to save these institutions to the church and secure their propserity. In reference to these members who are still in rebellion the conference took decisive action by making it the duty of the preacher in charge to erase the names of such persons from membership.
